

Note Wide Difference On Funds GOP, Dems About $785 Million Apart

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republican and Democrat leaders in the Assembly are about $785 million apart on estimates of how much state spending will be increased by proposed Democratic programs.

That wide difference appeared Tuesday when the Legislature's top Democrat, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, held that the Democrats 1967 legislative program would cost no more than an additional $180 million.

See $4.4 Billion Total
The state's budget is expected to be about $4.4 billion next year.

Earlier, the Assembly's ranking Republican, Minority Leader Perry B. Durvea Jr., had said the Democratic program would cost the state an estimated extra $965 million. Durvea held that the Democrats planned a $300 million increase in aid to education.

Travia, however, disputed that estimate and said the Democrats might seek up to $100 million in additional aid—above the mandated increase of $146 million—but certainly no more than that amount.

Travia said an increase of $300 million in aid to education would require a tax increase and that he had no intention of supporting any boost in taxes.

Durvea's office said that a Democratic proposal to require communities across the state to operate day-training services would cost an estimated $375 million.

Pegs $10 Million Cost
Travia held that the program would cost no more than $10 million.

The speaker said the total cost of all of the Democratic proposals, excluding the unspecified amount for aid to education, would be no more than $80 million.

The school-aid controversy revolves around the complicated formula for apportioning state aid to local school districts. The state presently shares, according to the economic condition of the locality, up to $660 of the cost for each pupil.

Proposals have been made to increase the state's ceiling for sharing costs by 10 per cent—up to $726 per pupil. This would cost an estimated additional $100 million.

Other proposals have been made that the state share up to the actual average cost of educating a pupil—$785. This would cost $300 million additional.

Durvea's aide said they believed the Democrats would try to raise the ceiling to the average of $785.

Travia said this would be too costly.

ENTRANCE TO FUTURE UNDERGROUND VAULT—National Storage Co. Inc., of Boyers, Pa., today announced plans for a new ultra-modern top security underground vault to be constructed in the old Rosendale cement mine caves. The buildings shown near the present entrance to the mines owned by A. J. Snyder are being removed and a modern security front will be constructed. The impregnable storage space will comprise two million square feet and the Pennsylvania firm notes that millions of dollars will go into transforming this giant into reality. (Gibson photo)

Quits Post As Premier Of Greece

ATHENS (AP)—Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos resigned today, raising the possibility that politically troubled Greece may get elections a year early.

The 67-year-old premier's coalition government collapsed Tuesday night when Greece's conservative party, the National Radical Union (ERE), withdrew its support. The government took office in September 1965 after the nation's worst political crisis since the Communist civil war of 1947-49.

Accepted by King
King Constantine accepted the premier's resignation and began consulting political leaders.

"The RE does not want any other party to govern but the ERE," said Panayiotis Canelopoulos, the party's leader, in withdrawing support from the government.

ERE's 99 members in Parliament were the coalition's largest supporting bloc. The government held a slim 153 seats in the 300-seat, single-house Parliament.

Must Act
Under the constitution, once a premier resigns in his resignation, the king must either call for elections within 45 days or designate someone to try to form a new government.

The next regularly scheduled elections are due in 1968. Political sources said King Constantine may name a transitional government headed by a non-parliamentary personality to prepare for national elections next summer.

Area Blanketed; Woman Killed

A second snowstorm in a week moved across Ulster County on Tuesday, blanketing the area with between 3 and 5 inches, causing a rash of traffic accidents, one of which resulted in the death of a Marlboro woman and serious injuries to two other persons.

73rd for Orange
The fatality occurred at 5:20 p. m. yesterday on Route 9W at Oak Street, Town of Newburgh. It was Orange County's 73rd traffic death of 1966. Ulster County's death toll for the year so far is 54.

Charles J. Cole, superintendent of the Board of Public Works, reported no problem developed as the result of yesterday's snowstorm. He said work crews moved into action at 1:30 p. m., a half hour after snow began to fall in the city. Streets were sanded and salted and city plows had been rigged and readied for movement, but they were not needed.

Cole reported salting and sanding crews worked through the night, and scrapers operated along streets, clearing the snow to the pavement.

Yesterday's snowstorm came a week after the first of the season, which dumped four to eight inches of snow on the county, and was blamed for the death of an Ulster Park man, who suffered a fatal seizure while removing snow from in front of his home.

The Dec. 13th storm forced the closing of schools in several districts and the cancellation of many events scheduled by area organizations.

Work Through Night
A spokesman for the Ulster County Highway Department said plows and sanding and salting crews were in operation before 9 p. m. and continued at work through the night and today relieving slippery conditions. He said the snowfall was 3 inches in this area and 5 in the mountain sections of the county.

Killed in yesterday's accident in Orange County was Mary Swartz, 47, of Western Avenue, Marlboro, according to Newburgh State Police, who said she was a passenger in a car driven by Mildred Partington, 55, also of Western Avenue, Marlboro.

Miss Swartz was an employee of Standard Winding Company of Newburgh. She was born in Minisink, Pa., Jan. 9, 1919, a daughter of Mrs. Helen M. Swartz and the late William J. Swartz.

Surviving in addition to her mother are two sisters, Mrs. Anna Martin of Burlington, Vt., and Mrs. Helen Jamilowski of New Paltz, a brother Francis of Marlboro and nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be held from the Tuthill Funeral Home, Marlboro, Friday 9:30 a. m. thence to St. Mary's Church, Marlboro where at 10 a. m. a requiem Mass will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Marlboro. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening and Thursday afternoon and evening.

The driver of the other car involved was Harold Marshall, 57, of Orrs Mill Road, Newburgh, who suffered lacerations of the face and left lung and a fractured pelvis. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital for treatment, and later transferred to the West Point Hospital. Marshall was described as a retired Army man.

According to Newburgh State Police, the Partington car was traveling north on Route 9W and Marshall was heading south when the woman reportedly lost control as the vehicle skidded along snow-slick pavement into the southbound lane where the head-on crash occurred.

The women were taken to St. Luke's Hospital where the victim (Continued on Page 18, Col. 4)

Yank Given Three Years, 2nd Fined

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP)—A Soviet court today sentenced Buel Ray Wortham Jr. to three years in a restricted labor camp and fined Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. 1,000 rubles — $1,111.11.

Run Concurrently
The two American youths were found guilty of violating Soviet currency regulations. Wortham also was convicted of stealing a statue of a bear.

Wortham was sentenced to two years on the theft charge and three years on the currency charge, the two terms to run concurrently.

Wortham first learned of his sentence after it had been read in Russian in the courtroom, when a spectator held up three fingers.

Shakes Head Sadly
The North Little Rock, Ark., resident shook his head sadly and knowingly but otherwise showed no emotion.

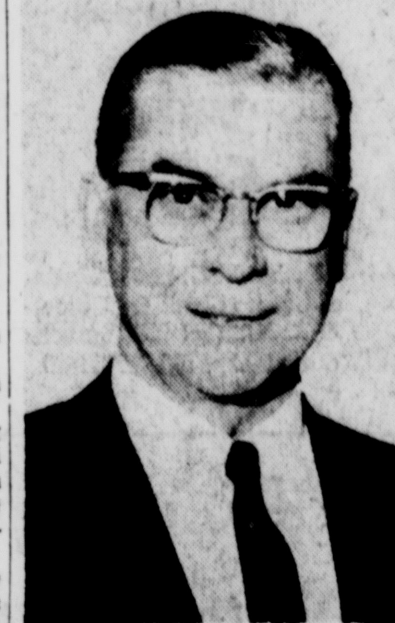

The sentence was later read in English.

Gilmour showed no emotion during the reading. The case went to Presiding Judge Anna I. Isakova. A. Trunov and Boris A. Derugin after Gilmour, 24, of Salt Lake City, Utah, made a final statement.

"I plead for the mercy of the court in the light of the basic human kindness of the Russian people," Gilmour said.

Snyder Grants 99-Year Lease to Storage Firm

By Walter S. Clark Jr.
Freeman Staff Writer

Conversion of the old Rosendale cement mines and caves to a new ultra-modern top security underground vault—the largest in the northeast—for protection of valuable records against atomic attack, fire, flood, theft, radiation and other types of disaster, will be one of the greatest projects undertaken in Ulster County.

Featuring two million square feet of impregnable storage space the project was announced today by Larry Yont, president of National Storage Company, Inc., of Boyers, Pa., at a luncheon held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Many Attend
Public officials, bankers, business men, leaders of service clubs and other groups attended the session this afternoon and received first hand details of the plans for the project, which will be located beneath the quaint Ulster County community of Rosendale.

The conversion of the old cement mines to a 32-acre underground storehouse for vital records, marks the beginning of a new chapter in the long and significant history of the Rosendale diggings.

National Storage Company, Inc. to date have more than 600 accounts, representing business firms, corporations, governments and government agencies. The Rosendale security storage will be available to meet the growing demand of such vault-like services.

The newly acquired Rosendale holdings of the National Storage Co. will be developed under the direction and supervision of A. Douglas Walker, recently appointed executive vice president, who will eventually make his home in the Rosendale area.

Has Much Experience
Walker represents many years of experience in the top security vault field, and is recognized as an outstanding expert in planning, developing and supervising such facilities.

National Storage Company, Inc., America's foremost underground security vault specialists, has completed a lease agreement for 99 years to develop approximately 32 acres of impregnable beneath-the-ground storage facilities for top secret security material, record storage, emergency operational headquarters, business survival programs and office space for hundreds of major business industrial firms and government agencies.

National Storage presently represents 80 acres of overhead protective storage.

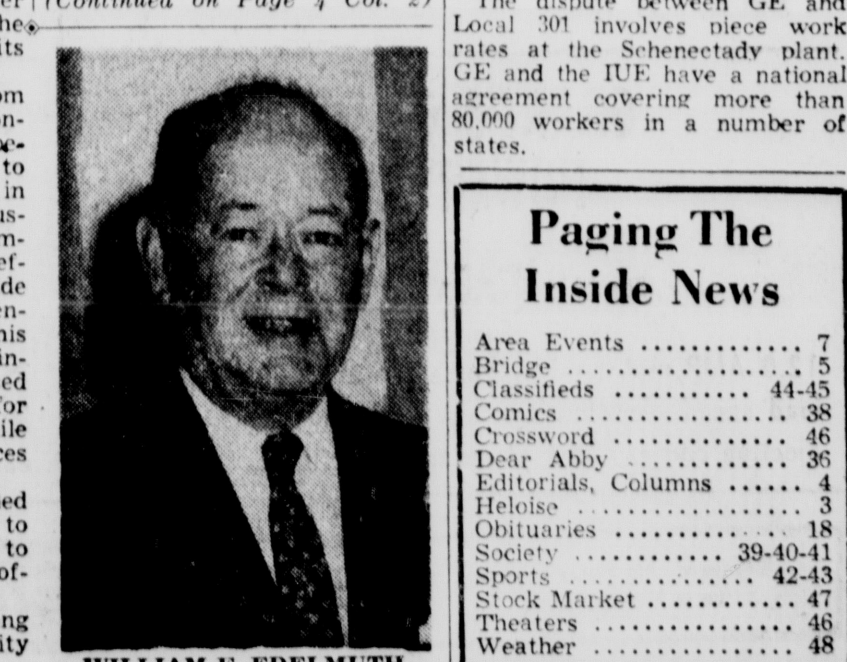

The community of Rosendale began its rich heritage back in 1825 with the production of Rosendale cement that has long (Continued on Page 47, Col. 4)

House Is Doomed By Road Builders At Highland Site

Historic Halfway House in Highland appears doomed to death by bulldozer despite efforts of area preservationists to save the Colonial style stone structure.

Mrs. Jeffrey Starin of Newburgh who purchased the house earlier this year in an effort to save it, said the State Department of Public Works plans to tear down the building sometime this week. It is in the path of a new traffic interchange for the Mid-Hudson Bridge.

Last month J. Burch McMoran, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, said he would allow the house to stand until December, 1967. However Mrs. Starin said she received a telegram from McMoran (Continued on Page 4 Col. 2)

Plan Tax Base Study in 1967

A joint meeting of the Tax Base Study Committee of the Board of Supervisors, along with the Industrial Development Committee will hold a combined meeting shortly after the first of the year to discuss a proposal to equalize the tax base throughout the county.

Announcement of the joint meeting was made today by Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle, (R), 12th Ward, who is chairman of the Tax Base Study Committee which is composed of Charles Relyea, (R), chairman of the board, and Supervisors Thaddeus Musialkiewicz (R), Ulster; Joseph B. Scully, (D), Fourth Ward, and Irving Bell (D), Sixth Ward.

List Members
Members of the Industrial Development Committee are Supervisors Charles E. Penney, (R), Shawangunk, chairman; Raichle (R), 12th Ward; Musialkiewicz (R), Ulster; Daniel Smith (D), Seventh Ward, and Scully (D), Fourth Ward.

As these discussions progress various organizations will be invited to attend meetings, including assessors, Ulster County Bar Association members, realtors,

Suggest Mapping

"One of the best and soundest ways to accomplish this is through a mapping and revaluation program. This is being done over the entire nation as a first step to sound county financing. The county must make a complete inventory of all taxable real estate in the county through a precise mapping program," Raichle said.

Former Mayor Named Gateway Head Again

Former mayor William F. Edelmuth was elected to his 10th term as president of Gateway Industries at a recent meeting.

Gateway was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York in 1957 when Edelmuth was first named.

In its short period of existence, Gateway has grown from a one-room workshop where five blind workers made rubber doormats to its present three floors of building space at 9-11 Field Court and serving over 80 handicapped workers.

Elected with President Edelmuth were: Arthur B. Richter, first vice-president; Charles Ronder, second vice-president; and John Clyne, treasurer. Paul Berish was elected secretary.

In addition to the facilities, the staff of Gateway has expanded to meet the needs and demands of its highly varied program serving an ever increasing number of individuals in its training and sheltered workshop areas.

Despite the short time Gateway has been operating, its potential for rehabilitating indi-

Report Agreement May Be Near To Guard Feelings of Jackie

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Look magazine appeared today to be approaching an agreement on her demands for exclusion of her personal recollections in the Kennedy book.

One high source said it is possible there may be an announcement today.

The same source said that efforts were being made to edit word-by-word author William Manchester's book, "The Death of a President," which is about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"Look is making every effort to safeguard the personal feelings of Mrs. Kennedy," other sources said.

Secret negotiations were held Tuesday in the offices of Cowles Communications, Inc., the publishers of Look, by top editors and Richard Goodwin, a former aide to President Kennedy who is acting as one of Mrs. Kennedy's advisers during the meetings aimed at settling the case out of court.

Another round of negotiations was set for today in hopes of effecting a settlement before Cowles and Harper & Row, publishers of the book, go into court Thursday to answer charges made by Mrs. Kennedy last Friday in her suit to block publication.

Attorneys for Mrs. Kennedy have drawn up a memorandum of law that they prepared for court today citing legal precedents for her suit and outlining the legal basis.

A hearing on the suit is scheduled for next Tuesday.

It was reported that Harper & Row, which plans to bring out the 300,000 word book in hard cover next April, would be willing to go along with the changes hammered out by the Look representatives and Goodwin.

Look is going ahead with plans to publish a four-part, 60,000 word serialization of the book beginning in the issue scheduled to go on the newsstands Jan. 10.

While Look and Mrs. Kennedy appeared approaching an agreement, Don Condon, literary agent for Manchester, said the author was determined to resist changes in the book demanded by Mrs. Kennedy, who alleges invasion of privacy and breach of agreement.

Manchester was understood to have been absent from Tuesday's meeting. It was said that he was being kept informed.

A source close to the Kennedy family said Mrs. Kennedy's main objections center on details dealing with the disposition, preparation and burial of her husband's body.

"Also," the source said, "she objects to the extent of the president's injuries, which is clinical, gruesome detail, and a couple of letters among other things."

From various persons who have read the manuscript, it was learned that Mrs. Kennedy specifically had objected to these other sections:

—Her reaction to being informed that Lee Harvey Oswald had been identified as her husband's assassin. "That's absurd," she was reported to have said. "He (President Kennedy) didn't even have the satisfaction of being killed for civil rights. It had to be some silly, little Communist."

Manchester's detailed account of how she used petroleum jelly to slip her wedding ring from her finger and place it on her husband's hand. Her ring was later removed from the president's hand at Bethesda Naval Hospital. Mrs. Kennedy reportedly wore the diamond, emerald ring Monday night when she attended a performance here of the Broadway musical "Cabaret."

—A portion dealing with how she should tell her daughter, Caroline, then 5, that her father had been killed. Mrs. Kennedy reportedly asked her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, whether she felt it would be better for Caroline's nurse to tell the girl or whether she should tell Caroline herself. Mrs. Auchincloss reportedly took matters in her own hands and asked the nurse, Maud Shaw, to tell Caroline of the president's death.

—An account in Mrs. Kennedy's own words of the last night she spent with the president before moving on to Dallas on the tragic day of Nov. 22, 1963.

Quotations from a love letter to her husband.

Schoonmaker Is Lodge 343 Master

Jack H. Schoonmaker was elected Master of Rondout Lodge 343, Free and Accepted Masons, Monday night at its 111th annual communication in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue.

Other officers elected were Arthur F. Aldridge, senior warden; J. Wesley Drake, junior warden; James E. Norton, treasurer; Fred L. VanDeusen, secretary; Leon Milikofsky, chaplain; Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport, assistant chaplain; Donald H. Schoonmaker Jr., assistant chaplain; Myron E. Rowe, senior deacon; Paul Trataros, junior deacon; Robert D. Mitchell Jr., senior master of ceremony;

Robert W. Averyt, junior master of ceremony; C. Edward Rowe, marshal; George E. Radcliffe, tiler and Leslie E. Mott, organist.

Frank J. Strobel was elected lodge trustee for three years to succeed himself; Arthur J. Jansen was elected trustee of the Masonic Temple for three years to succeed himself.

The annual reports were read and showed that the lodge had enjoyed a successful year in 1966. The newly elected and appointed officers were installed by Right Worshipful Frank J. Strobel, past district deputy grand-master of the Greene-Ulster District and past master of Rondout Lodge.

Worshipful Brother Paul Jones, past assistant grand lecturer of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District and past master of Rondout Lodge, acted as marshal and also had charge of the election.

Worshipful Brother Donald H. Schoonmaker Jr., past master of Rondout Lodge, acted as chaplain. Worshipful Brother Alex Woolf acted as junior deacon and Worshipful Brother Charles W. Shultis acted as tiler, both being past masters of Rondout Lodge. Worshipful Brother Don-ald H. Schoonmaker Sr. acted as marshal during the installation of his son, Jack H. Schoonmaker.

Tellers for the election were Brothers Edwin L. Wetterhahn and Charles Neebe.

The retiring master, Leon Milikofsky, was presented with a gift from the lodge by Worshipful Brother Jack H. Schoonmaker.

A past master's certificate was also presented to the retiring master by Worshipful Brother Leon B. Hobbs, president of the Past Masters Association of Rondout Lodge.

A roast beef dinner, prepared by the ladies of Kingston Chapter 155, Order of the Eastern Star, was served in the dining room preceding the meeting.

Spa Doctors Ease Stand on Medicaid

BALLSTON SPA, N.Y. (AP)—Members of the Saratoga County Medical Society have voted to withdraw their opposition to participation in New York State's Medicaid program.

A spokesman for the group said the action did not imply the society approved of the controversial program but meant each physician member was free to determine whether to participate.

The spokesman said the majority of the society's members indicated that the non-participation resolution had accomplished "as much as possible."

"Most of our demands have been met," the spokesman said Tuesday night, "at least in part or in promise."

The spokesman said the society would continue to try to obtain changes in the program. The Saratoga group was one of the first doctors' organizations to go on record against participating in the program. They complained the income-eligibility levels were too high and that payment of claims through the welfare departments violated doctor-patient relationships.

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

When you bake that turkey this year why don't you try tearing off a piece of foil and wrapping it around the raw ends of each turkey leg before you bake it?

I find that this does not let the skin split near the end of the bone where it has been cut off and it does not dry out. Besides, it looks pretty.

Also, when it comes time to carve that turkey, you can grasp the foil-covered part of the leg in your hand for neater carving! And think how nice it will be when you hand it to the children — no messy little fingers there, either. So, happy turkey eating.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Since my little girl started first grade they have class assignments called show-and-tell.

They have to bring in tree leaves, pictures, etc. that start with the letters which they are learning.

I have found the cardboard pieces that come in my husband's shirts from the laundry are perfect for construction paper.

Each time he uses a clean shirt I put the cardboard away. I have accumulated quite a bit. They are sturdy and do not rip easily.

This way she can put her "show and tell" article in between the cardboards to protect it, and she gets it to school in one piece.

Mrs. M. Petsoules

Dear Heloise:

Has this use for nylon net been suggested?

Make a small bag with one- or two-ply net and a drawstring top. Put some of your favorite perfume, toilet water or cologne on a piece of absorbent cotton and place it inside the net bag.

Tie the string and use one of these little bags in the drawer where you store your underwear, on the shelf of a closet, or tied to a clothes hanger where you hang your dresses.

One can also be placed inside stored suitcases to prevent that musty odor.

Mrs. Frances Bragg

Dear Heloise:

While making nylon net Christmas trees and wreaths I was disappointed with the trouble, mess, and effect produced using glitter, cement and glue to hold the glitter in place.

I finally hit on a system that worked beautifully.

I put the glitter in my flour shaker and sprinkled it in place after spraying the net with plastic spray starch.

The starch didn't show, it made the net even stiffer and the glitter is uniformly distributed.

Pat Biesiadny

Pat, we tried and it worked beautifully. Also, the spray starch gave us another idea — hair spray! We tried it and it worked just as well. So... hey, shall we spray away?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Having a set of twins, I was hard put to keep them in plastic bibs. I like the plastic bibs because they are easy to wipe clean but they were forever tearing or cracking.

Using an old bib as a pattern, I cut out two bibs from a half-yard of colorful oilcloth. Then encased the edges in bias tape.

These can be cleaned easily or rinsed off in the sink and seem to last much longer than plastic bibs because they are easy to wipe clean but they were forever tearing or cracking.

The company furloughed 1,350 employees in three other departments Monday. That layoff will continue through January.

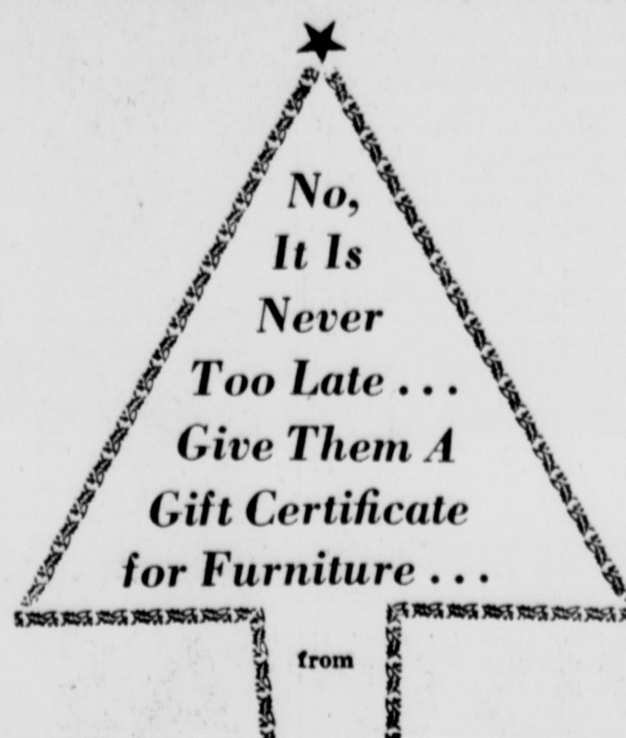

Cong Steps Up War Bond Drive, Peasants' Taxes

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) —

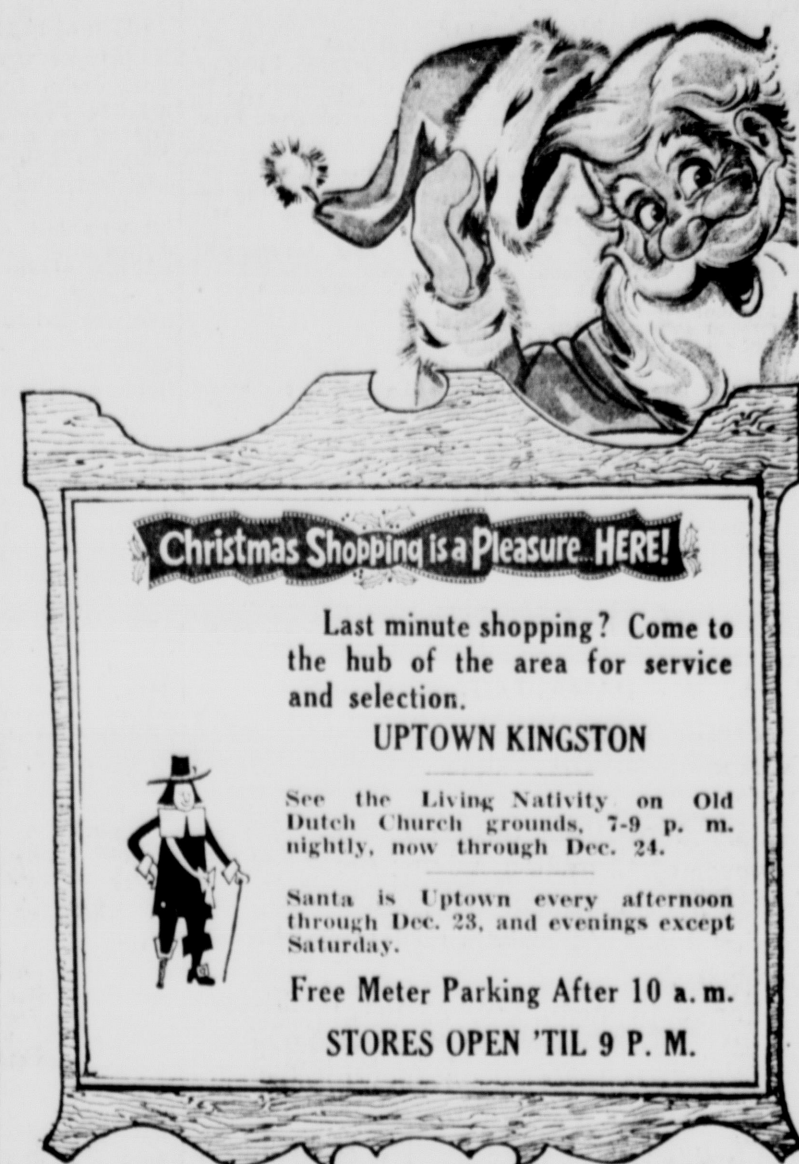

The Viet Cong have stepped up their war bond drives and their taxes on South Vietnam's peasants and merchants to meet the rising cost of the Communist war effort, U.S. officials say.

In a study titled "Prospects for the Viet Cong," the U.S. AID mission in Saigon reports that Communist war bonds were virtually unknown 18 months ago. But now, the report said, the National Liberation Front — the political arm of the Viet Cong — is estimated to raise 40 per cent of its budget by bond sales.

PARALLEL PUZZLES

President Lyndon B. Johnson has South Vietnam; British Prime Minister Harold Wilson has Rhodesia. The one has made a commitment not to permit a Communist takeover of 16 million Asians; the other has made a commitment not to abandon four million black Africans to rule by a white minority.

For both men, the verdict of history awaits. It will record of each that he either achieved greatness by surmounting his particular rock of Vietnam or Rhodesia or that he foundered on it—possibly carrying a large part of civilization down with him.

Just as confrontation with Red China is an ever-present possibility because of America's involvement in Asia, so Britain's call for selective economic sanctions against Rhodesia could expand into a bloody showdown between black and white in Africa.

Limiting the Vietnam struggle to a local war while at the same time pursuing it with enough vigor to win it eventually has been Johnson's problem. How to apply meaningful pressure on Rhodesia without jeopardizing Britain's vital trade with South Africa is Wilson's.

On this side of the Atlantic, the President has been charged both with following a "no win" policy in Vietnam and of waging a dirty, unjust war. On the other side, the prime minister has been accused of "hypocritical cant" in asking for sanctions against Rhodesia or moral principles while making sure they will be of no practical effect by excluding South Africa.

The President has replied by questioning the patriotism of some of his critics; the prime minister has called his opponents appeasers of an illegal and tyrannical regime.

It is about here, however, that the parallel breaks down. America has received no material and precious little moral support in Vietnam from Britain, but Britain is counting on the United States to back it in Africa. Britain continues to trade with Red China, but we have agreed to observe the sanctions against Rhodesia.

Americans do not shrink from the consequences that might follow from opposing militant communism in Vietnam, or anywhere else, but many are wondering if we are not getting involved in something we would not care to see through to a finish in Africa.

SLAVERY STILL EXISTS

Americans tend to forget, if indeed they are aware of it, that slavery did not end throughout the world with the passage of our 13th Amendment at the time of the Civil War. The Anti-Slavery Society headquarters in London is still active, and finds plenty to do.

Just now it is trying to get the United Nations to join in the fight. The Society's reports cite evidence of slavery in 26 countries. Though most of them are in Asia and Africa, they include some countries in the Western Hemisphere: Mexico, Brazil, Colombia and Peru.

In the Orient slavery generally takes the form of white slavery. In Saudi Arabia slavery was recently banned by King Faisal, but still continues illegally much as the sale of liquor continues in prohibition communities. Nor can Americans rightly take a holier-than-thou attitude. Slavery still continues here and there in the Philippines, even though we ruled the islands for many years.

For all this, the situation is obviously better than it used to be. In our time slavery and the slave trade no longer exist in the open, but are carried on as underground operations. Governmental perseverance, with a vigorous concerted push from the United Nations, could root out these ancient evils.

A VITAL QUESTION

One vital question about the proposed treaty banning military uses of space is this: How would the United States know if the Soviet Union violated it? Would there be an effective way, for example, to tell if the Russians placed in orbit a satellite bearing nuclear weapon—or biological or chemical weapons?

State Department officials have given an

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
MORE ON THE ROCKY ROAD TO NEGRO SELF-HELP

What next for Dr. Thomas Matthew, the Negro neurosurgeon of Queens County, New York, who has been trying to get his 200-bed private Interfaith (i.e. integrated) Hospital floated on a free enterprise basis to prove that Negroes can do something both for themselves and the white community?

Just the other day the harassed doctor thought he was out of the woods. After scrambling for dimes and staving off creditors for two years, he finally succeeded in getting New York City to transfer a hundred chronic cases from the overcrowded municipal hospitals to his own scrupulously clean but unused wards. At $20 a day per case this figured to rescue the doctor's rather bold and imaginative project, and, incidentally, save New York City taxpayers at least $30 on each patient.

But the perils of Pauline were nothing as compared to the perils of Dr. Matthew. No sooner had he announced that Mayor Lindsay had helped solve his problem than disaster threatened from a new quarter. A local savings and loan institution decided to foreclose on the $800,000 hospital mortgage. Dr. Matthew and his staff reacted instantaneously in a way that has put them on the front pages of newspapers as far away as Japan. They barricaded the hospital entrance with a 10-foot-high wire fence, put out a statement that the patients couldn't be moved, and appealed to the local Queens community to come to their aid. Then they rushed off to New York City Hall to see if they couldn't collect some of the money the city owed them.

The city budget bureaucrats said "wait." It seemed that red tape appropriation requirements had to be satisfied. But finally City Hall stretched some arcane procedures to the point of ponying up $13,440 on a larger sum that the Interfaith Hospital already earned, and Dr. Matthew went back to Queens with some tangible proof that he was a good credit risk.

As this particular column is being written, the troubles about the mortgage haven't been formally settled. But by now the local-white community that surrounds Dr. Matthew's Interfaith Hospital had rallied to his support. Ironically, one of the moving spirits in the group happens to be Rosemary Gunning, who ran for President of the New York City Council on the Conservative Party ticket on a platform that denounced the idea of a police civilian review board. It seems that Rosemary Gunning and some of her fellow Queens Conservatives, though they are against the busing of Negro and white children out of their school neighborhoods, happen to agree with Dr. Matthew that there must be an end to "polarity" between Negroes and whites. The Queens community group is now setting out to sell bonds to finance Dr. Matthew's hospital and to create a greater private corporation dedicated to building integrated hospitals elsewhere in the country.

And thereby hangs a tale which should be told merely to keep the historical record straight. Recently Senator Robert Kennedy captured the headlines with the announcement that he had set up a private corporation designed to make use of the "Negro credit equity" in rebuilding the slums of the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn. The Kennedy corporation hopes to make use of both privately subscribed funds and public grants if they are forthcoming. It's a great idea, but this column would like to point out that Dr. Matthew took an outline for the general project to Bobby Kennedy some time before the Senator floated it trial-balloon fashion at a National Association for the Advancement of Colored People dinner.

Politicians are not to be good ones. But writers have a duty to see that history is told straight. Dr. Matthew got there ahead of Bobby Kennedy or, for that matter, Senator Jack Javits, who is also in the business of getting self-help corporations going to help solve Negro problems. The heart-warming thing about the whole history of Dr. Matthew's adventure with his Queens hospital project is that it proves that liberals and conservatives, politicians and those who distrust politics, can eventually come together to bind up community wounds. When a Conservative Rosemary Gunning, a Liberal Republican Mayor John Lindsay and a Democrat Senator Bobby Kennedy can all begin moving in the same direction, and without merely begging from Washington, D. C., there is hope in the land.

Prompt Recognition Needed In Checking Rise of VD

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D., Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Veneral disease, which showed signs of being conquered 25 years ago, is now causing widespread alarm due to the rapid increase in its prevalence. This trend can be met only by a greater awareness of its dangers, especially by the group that shows the highest incidence (ages 15 to 25), and by prompt recognition and treatment.

If, instead of infectious syphilis, 20,000 cases of small pox with close to 4,000 deaths had been reported last year, our complacent society would have demanded immediate steps to bring the epidemic under control.

Veneral disease is spread by sexual promiscuity. Whether in our "enlightened" age you consider such behavior immoral or not, you would do well to consider the following definition: Morality is the wisdom born of human suffering.

Both syphilis and gonorrhea, the two principal veneral diseases, are caused by germs that are so fragile they can live for only a few minutes outside the human body. They die quickly at room temperature or when exposed to a drying atmosphere.

The first sign of syphilis is a hard sore, called a chancre, which develops at the place where the germ enters the body after an incubation period of 10 to 90 days. It is not painful and may develop, especially in women, deep inside the genital tract, it may pass unnoticed.

About four weeks after the occurrence of the chancre the second stage appears. This consists of a measleslike rash over the entire body but syphilis is a great fooler. It imitates many other diseases and its course is often atypical. Some persons never get the rash or have one that is limited to a small area.

An expectant mother can transmit the disease to her unborn child. This is about the only exception to transmission by sexual contact. All pregnant women should have a blood test early in the course of the pregnancy.

The third stage of syphilis may be delayed for several years. It consists of small painless areas of tissue destruction that may occur in any part of the body and result in blindness, insanity, heart disease and other serious complications. Another column will discuss gonorrhea and treatment.

only slightly qualified "yes" to the question. In their judgment there would be "a very high likelihood" that any violation of the treaty could be detected.

That is of great importance, because variants on this question are sure to be pressed in the Senate when the treaty comes up for ratification. At that time, the administration should be prepared to give strong support for these assurances. If the question is satisfactorily answered, the Senate should then not delay in giving its approval, for this treaty is needed to curb the peril of a space armaments.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Ronald Reagan, newly elected governor of California, is obviously key to Republican leaders' persistent efforts to pull most of their party under the big umbrella of unity.

These days the chief spokesmen for party moderates seldom run through the GOP galaxy of stars without including Reagan's name—though now and then they make it sound almost like an afterthought.

At the recent Colorado Springs meeting of Republican governors, the moderates were so conscientious about mentioning Reagan that they seemed on the verge of proposing a "lake-Ronald Reagan-to-dinner" week.

Most of the time Reagan appears eager to return the favor. He made himself one of the boys in Colorado. He praised his new colleagues and evidently worked well with them. He tried to take some of the sting out of an earlier comment that Michigan's Gov. George Romney should repent for his non-support of Barry Goldwater in 1964.

Yet party analysts wonder how genuinely effective the Republicans' new amity kick can be. One student of GOP affairs insists there is no way to sweep under the rug the bitter ideological differences which reached their peak in 1964.

He gets confirmation for his argument from some recent utterances of party conservatives, as well as from the factional battles still raging in some states.

When GOP southern state chairmen gathered not long ago in New Orleans, more than one was heard to say:

"We showed the eastern establishment before, and we'll show them again."

Similar jabs at eastern Republicans by either southerners or westerners have been heard fairly frequently. They suggest that the old liberal-conservative divisions endure vigorously behind the thin veil of "geographic differences."

Within at least a few important states, the ripping and tearing continues to be severe.

In Washington state, the recent re-election of Ken Rogstad, arch-conservative, as GOP chairman in King's County (Seattle) is said virtually to insure that one-third of Washington's 1968 national convention delegation will be conservative—notwithstanding the moderate leadership of Gov. Daniel Evans.

Reports has it that factional chaos reigns in Connecticut since the conservatives' ouster some months ago of moderate state Republican chairman Searle Pinyney.

The psychedelic church is up four flights of iron stairs. It is a big bare room of pocked paint. Services continue 168 hours a week. It is Greenwich Village's answer to God. Communicants lie on their backs, full of LSD, cheap gin and marijuana, and stare at a ceiling against which vague colors move and melt.

It expands their consciousness. They think bigger and sharper as they dream of peaceful spectrums. There is some board lumber, three mattresses and a projector. A refrigerator stands in a corner hearding a small can of condensed milk. On the floor a man huddles under an army blanket. His bare toes are white and still.

He may be the pastor. A dusty brass cornet sleeps beside him. The cockroaches hurry across the floor quietly. The man does not awaken. The visitors leave. The iron stairs are easier going down. The pavement is polished with mist.

The old Village is on the west side. New York's new Bohemian life is a series of odoriferous saloons between 3rd Avenue and the East River. Once, a million Jewish immigrants landed here and sweated their way out. The old tenements have had their eyes gouged by bricks.

The misfit artists live here. The poets too. The writers who never write. The bearded Negroes in corduroy. The white kids blinking behind bifocals. The mini-girls with their baby talk. The hookers and the hooked. Soft lights and hard stone. They call it The Village in the Far East.

Slugs' is a place. The walls are red brick and there is a bar inside the door leaning against the wall. The barflies nurse a drink. They stare up the narrow alley of the place toward the bandstand. They do not speak to each other, and spend their time looking belligerent and lonely.

Behind the bar is Paul Lee, son of Canada Lee, a talented Negro actor who got too much too soon. The tables are like white lozenges, 18 inches across. When the band isn't on the stand, a jukebox pounds notes that speak no musical language. It is nothing in E flat.

A colored boy leaves and he yells. "My momma and your momma are the same momma." A young man spreads his fingers before his eyes like bars and holds this position all night. When the drinks are slow, Roy Haynes Quartet shuffles up on the stand and a brass saxophone punctuates a nervous piano, a bass fiddle, and drums.

The song is "Yesterday," but the players use nothing but the title. The rest of it is avant-garde jazz. This is a drag race in four-four time. The tall skinny man at the bass leans on his fiddle with his eyes closed, and he dreams the bullfrog plunk.

The kittenish blonde waitress says she is the daughter of a Nebraska professor. She wears net stockings and pale stringy hair and she collects for each drink as it is delivered. Along the wall tall pews hold mixed sexes and races holding hands.

Robert Schoenholt drinks with a customer. He owns Slugs'. "The reason I put the apostrophe after the S," he says sagely, "is because I am not a slug. The customers are." In spite of the mixture of races and sexes and panaceas he has no trouble to the police. He has his own bouncer. "His job is to cool people out before they start."

The music gets louder. The drummer senses a happy musical phrase and he flogs the cymbals, the snare, and a few wooden blocks. "My father," the young blonde waitress shouts, "is a professor of agronomy." The other waitress moves under her gray dress like 130 pounds of gelatine.

She keeps a seven-foot boa constrictor in her room. He is young and someday he is going to star in a snake dance with her. She doesn't like the long hours she spends pushing whiskey and beer in Slugs'. Still, he knows better than to sither outdoors. It's a different kind of jungle. He could be mugged.

Silence, Withdrawal Questioned

More Attention Is Focused On Strange World of LBJ

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—More and more the attention of the country is being focused on the strange new world of President Johnson, a world of silence and withdrawal, to see what emerges from it in 1967.

He can't go on like this if he hopes to run for the presidency again in 1968 although up to this time he hasn't said he will.

Critics Stung Bitterly

Today a group of governors confer with him at his Texas ranch. But anyone who knows him can be sure the criticism he got from Democratic governors last week has stung him bitterly.

Some of them blamed his domestic policies and political operations for the gains the Republicans made in the November elections.

That they should have made such an attack in him, probably unprecedented, shows the depth of dissatisfaction within the Democratic party with his leadership, or rather lack of it.

They were thinking, of course, of the meager campaigning he did for his party in the last election, an extraordinary neglect for a man who is so totally political as Johnson.

One shrewd political observer tried to explain that performance to this writer: Johnson is unfamiliar with Northern politics and politicians, was therefore unsure of himself, and thought it better to stay out.

Air of Mystery

This doesn't add up. His job in the campaigns wasn't the nuts and bolts task of putting political machines together. His job simply was to help candidates by appearing in their areas and speaking for them.

But this he backed away from and his reason has never been explained by him.

But his whole performance in recent months has almost had an air of mystery about it. He has wrapped himself in silence while criticism of him increases and his popularity goes down.

Just try to remember when you heard him make one full speech explaining to the American people this country's position in Vietnam: the problems, the progress, the reasons for being there. Why the reluctance to do even this?

Yet, his critics in this past year have talked so much, and at such length, now at year's end they seem worn out. Yet the war in Vietnam is one of the main sources of complaint against Johnson.

He may feel that he is misunderstood, that his ideas are being rejected or not listened to, but any failures of this kind may be more of his own doing than of any one else's.

He has a habit of jumbling, of throwing a whole raft of subjects into one speech so that the net effect is a blur, instead of devoting one whole speech to one subject so that the point and effect he wishes to make are inescapable.

Extremely on Defensive

But when all these things are added up, what do they come to? Johnson is extremely on the defensive, extremely bothered by criticism. He was riding high in his early days when he was getting his programs through Congress and had the usual public goodwill that goes to a new president.

But when this goodwill subsided and the going got rougher, particularly in fields he was not familiar with, as in foreign affairs, he seems to have become less and less vigorous, more and more withdrawn, increasingly sensitive, more reluctant to talk or fight back. This is strange, indeed.

Quick Quiz

Q—Who was the first president to pass through the Panama Canal while in office?

A—President Franklin D. Roosevelt on July 11, 1934, on his way to Hawaii.

Q—Who built the Brooklyn Bridge?

A—John Roebling. It was the first great suspension bridge in the world.

Q—What does the famous Bayeux Tapestry depict?

A—It is a representation of the conquest of England by the Normans. Tradition ascribes it to Queen Matilda, wife of William the Conqueror. She is said to have presented it to the Cathedral of Bayeux.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The Star of Bethlehem which plays a prominent part in the Bible story of the birth of Christ may have been the bright glow from Jupiter passing close to Saturn, says a Michigan State University astronomer.

Von Del Chamberlain says a rare conjunction of the two planets which would have given off an unusually bright glow occurred in 6 B.C., the year he said is considered to be the actual date of Christ's birth.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The yaks of Tibet are large, sturdy animals related to the bison group, says The World Almanac. Bulls are sometimes six feet high at the shoulders and weigh as much as 1,200 pounds. They have short hair on the back and long, shaggy hair on the flanks and belly. Wild yaks are black, while domesticated ones are usually black and white. The Tibetans utilize the hair, milk, horns, dung and hides for various purposes.

Firemen Urge Safety Measures During Christmas

Gerard J. Keldir Jr., vice president of the Uniformed Fire Fighters' Association, today urged all residents to exercise extreme caution to prevent fires during the upcoming holiday season.

In the way of helpful holiday hints Keldir listed the following:

don't overload electrical outlets; make sure all appliances are fused properly; be sure that all decorating lights are unplugged when leaving the house or going to bed; never leave children unattended; and keep the Christmas tree moist. If the tree begins to turn brown or dry, use of lights should be eliminated as much as possible.

It is estimated there are some 44,000 lightning storms every day, taking the earth as a whole.

Crime to Pass With 14 Points

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Some players like to pass big hands. If everyone else passes they throw their hands down and don't look to see what they have missed. If their partner opens the bidding they have a great feeling of power but aren't likely to be able to use this power with any success."

Jim: "South's pass was really a bridge crime. He held 14 high card points and two and a half quick tricks. Even without the major suit jacks he could and should have opened with one diamond."

Oswald: "Call his initial pass a misdemeanor. His two no-trump bid was a felony."

Jim: "South had a lot of reasons for both the pass and the two no-trump bid. He explained that he just hated to open the bidding when he had nothing in the major suits. As for his two no-trump call he had so much in the minors that his partner just had to have stuff in the majors."

Oswald: "That last bit of sophistry I have been listening to for years. Why decide what your partner holds when you are look-

Oswald: "North might well have done just that. After that original pass North would not visualize enough stuff for a minor suit game."

Jim: "South was unlucky in the play. West made his natural heart lead and the defense collected the first five tricks. On the other hand there was no defense against five clubs or five diamonds and a diamond opening by South should have led to one of those safe contracts."

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 21, the 355th day of 1966. There are 10 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1620, the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock after a voyage of 65 days.

On this date:

In 1776, Benjamin Franklin arrived in Paris on a mission for the U.S. government.

In 1898, Pierre and Marie Curie discovered radium.

In 1945, Gen. George S. Patton died less than two weeks after he had been injured seriously in an auto accident in Heidelberg, Germany.

In 1951, an explosion in the New Orient mine in East Frankfort, Ill., killed 119 men.

Ten years ago—Following the issuance of a federal injunction barring bus segregation in Montgomery, Ala., Negroes in that city ended a year-long boycott of the city's busses.

Five years ago—President John F. Kennedy—after a week-end tour of Latin America—sat down for two days of talks with British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan in Hamilton, Bermuda.

One year ago—President Johnson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard wound up two days of talks on nuclear arms and other issues.

A CHRISTMAS PLAYHOUSE

By Janet Henry and John Lane

New Library Books

The following popular fiction and non-fiction books were received this week at Kingston Library:

Fiction

Aird, C. The Religious Body. Miss Aird, sharp of tongue and quick of eye, solves murder committed in a convent.

Barth, J. Giles Goat-Boy. A contemporary, comic version of the life and teachings of George Gies, who left the goat farm to become a Grand Tutor in the human university.

Blacker, I. R. Search and Destroy. An exciting drama involving tension and political intrigue in the unreported war in Vietnam.

Elli, F. The Riot. A taut, tense, minute-by-minute account of a two-day riot and maximum-security penitentiary in the Midwest.

Hartog, J. The Captain. A powerful story of a man measured by the sea, ships, his fellows and himself until it is shown that he has what it takes to stand responsible, after God, for a ship and the souls it contains.

Non-Fiction

Breton, G. Napoleon and His Ladies. An account of Napoleon's love life and its effect on both his own fate and Europe's.

Fremantle, A. Age of Faith. With remarkable grace and competence, the author describes the medieval pageant of Christian life in the Middle Ages.

Guaracchi, G. My Home, Sweet Home. A warm and humorous autobiography of the Guaracchi family, told with wit that turns the sorriest mishaps into occasions for laughter.

Halsey, F. W. The Old New York Frontier. A fascinating story of the fruitful beginnings of a land and people from which was to grow the greatest of all the states.

Morris, C. The Day They Lost the H-Bomb. A suspenseful account of the incredible effort of the U. S. Government to recover the H-Bomb lost in a collision of planes over Spain.

Neustadt, R. E. Presidential Power. A scholar's explanation of the reasons why political knowledge is essential for a president.

Wiesner, J. B. Where Science and Politics Meet. A penetrating discussion of science and education and their places in modern society as seen by the Dean of the School of Science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Try to Block Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin says he has received indications House leaders won't try to stop his promised attempt to block seating of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell in the 90th Congress.

The California Democrat, talking with newsmen in Washington after a visit to New York to check on Powell's conviction for contempt of court, did not give the source of the "indications" he cited.

Many members feel Powell's chances of retaining his seat may lie with Speaker John McCormack and Democratic Leader Carl Albert. McCormack and Albert have remained silent publicly on the issue.

Crops Are Below '65 But Tied With 1963

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crop production this year was 3 per cent below last year's record high but still tied 1963 as the second highest on record, the Agriculture Department reports.

Figures released Tuesday show that total acreage in 59 major crops this year was 288 million—1 per cent less than the 291 million last year. The Department said sub-freezing temperatures, lack of moisture at times and unusually high early summer temperatures contributed somewhat to the slight decline in production. The acreage harvested, the yield per acre and production of important crops by major-producing states included.

Apples, production only: New York, 2.2 million bushels; New Jersey 1.4 million bushels; New York 450,000. Dry beans: New York 103,000 acres for harvest; 1,320 pounds per acre and production of 1,360,000 hundredweight. Cranberries: New Jersey, 3,000 acres harvested; 48 barrels per acre and production of 144,000 barrels. Potatoes, Long Island, N.Y.: 29,700 acres harvested; 255 hundredweight per acre and production of 7,574,000 hundredweight; Upstate New York 41,000; 220 and 9,020,000.

Disney's Vast Fortune Was Only Realized in Last Decade

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
Third of five articles on Walt Disney

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — At the time of his death last Thursday, Walt Disney's entertainment empire was so widespread and prosperous that it seemed impossible he had known times when his studio had faced extinction.

Yet until the last decade of his life, Disney was scorned by many financial minds who considered him a poor risk, a visionary who would bring his company to the edge of insolvency to accomplish dreams.

For the first 30 years of his film enterprises, the pattern was the same: Walt got the ideas and his brother Roy got the money. But more than once the ideas outdistanced the money.

It started as early as 1923. Walt had come to Hollywood with plans of breaking into the movies. He originally wanted to be a director, but no studio wanted to hire a 22-year-old Kansas City boy with no experience. So he decided to do the thing he knew: make cartoons.

"Where can we get the money?" he asked Roy. The older brother found a source: an uncle who made a reluctant loan of $500. They were in business.

Later when Walt had trouble interesting major studios in his new character, Mickey Mouse, he thought of a way to put it across: with sound. Talkies were coming in, but nobody had put sound to cartoons and experimenting would cost money.

Roy found the cash and Walt recorded the sound track in New York. Mickey Mouse became a star.

The Disney resources were again pushed to the limit with the first all-cartoon feature, "Snow White." Walt had hoped to make the film for a million dollars, but the total came to $1.7 million because of his search for perfection. The treasury was depleted for an unproved project; nobody knew if audiences would sit still for a full-length feature with cartoon characters.

The euphoria that followed the success of "Snow White" sent Walt on a spending spree: "Flamby" cost $1.7 million, "Fantasia" $2.2 million, "Pinocchio" $2.6 million. Then Roy called a halt.

"There isn't any more money," Walt, he told his brother. "Those new features wined out all the profits that 'Snow White' made, and our foreign market is knocked out by the war. We've got to tighten our belts."

The Disney studio limped through the war, making training films and propaganda movies. Walt had a rough time gearing the studio for the peacetime market. He experimented with films that were a musical vaudeville and with movies that combined animation with live action. None seemed to click.

Non-Cartoons

Walt moved boldly into non-cartoon features and scored a hit with his most expensive film, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea." The cartoons were succeeding, notably "Cinderella" and "Lady and the Tramp," and so were the nature films such as "The Living Desert."

The Disney fortunes were climbing, but Walt had another dream: an amusement park full of fun and imagination. But he didn't know how to finance it.

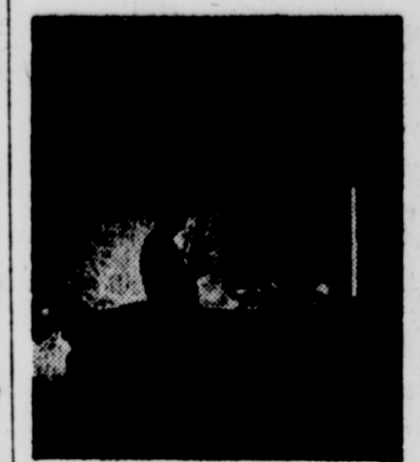

"I've got it," he decided one wakeful night. "The networks have been wanting me to go into television. I'll give them a show — if they'll help me build the park."

Disney's Folly

ABC agreed to help finance Disneyland, but Walt still didn't have enough to finish the park. He borrowed on his life insurance for added money.

"Disney's folly," as the scoffers called it, opened its gates July 17, 1955, and proved one of the great successes of entertainment history. Thereafter Roy Disney had little trouble finding the money to fulfill Walt's dreams.

Next: The Disney philosophy in his own words.

Pennsy Dutch to Celebrate With Traditional Customs

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)— In the Pennsylvania Dutch Country—about 50 miles from the booming East Coast Megalopolis—the natives are preparing to celebrate Christmas with rustic customs rooted deep in folklore and tradition.

For instance, mounds or bales of hay will be set out around barns and stables on Christmas Eve, so the Christmas dew will moisten them. It is believed that animals eating this fodder will escape harm in the new year.

Break Bread

The women of the farms and towns break bread, put the pieces in market baskets and hang them on a washline. On Christmas morning, the bread—also dew-moistened—is served to the family, in the trust that good luck will wait upon that house in the coming year.

Old, old customs. But a significant part of the Pennsylvania Dutch heritage.

Farmers, remembering old tales, say that anyone who happens to be in a barn or stable between 11 p. m. and midnight on Christmas Eve will be able to understand the animal talk.

Not all Pennsylvania Dutch observe the Christmas season in the same way. Those known as "Plain"—the Amish, Mennonites and Dunkars—keep the holiday in low key.

No Tree

No tree, no colored lights, no garlands of holly, no mistletoe. To them Christmas is almost completely a religious holiday. The peak of the year for piety; an interlude for repose.

Among them there is no custom that could truly be called an exchange of gifts, although the children are favored with candy and cookies, put on their Christmas breakfast plates.

The one real indulgence of the Plain sects is the making of Christmas cookies. Recipes are passed on from generation to generation. So are the cookie-cutters, whose shapes, of a great variety, are symbolic of the lore of each period in the history of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

The Pennsylvania Dutch who are not called Plain are referred to as "Gay." The term, however, does not carry the sportive connotation.

Have Cookies

The Gay Dutch share the passion for Christmas cookies. They do not, as a rule, limit their observances as the Plain people do. They embrace Kris Kringle, enjoy the festive tree and the glowing festoons.

All Pennsylvania Dutch are devoted to the candlelight service on Christmas Eve and to the ceremonies that go with it, including music by trombone choirs. Many congregations still use hand-made beeswax candles.

The first phase of the service is called a love feast. Sweet buns, rolls and coffee are on the menu. Carolers and choirs sing. In the second half lighted candles are passed from hand to hand and all join in singing "I am the Light of the World." There is no sermon, only the reading of scripture, as the candles, held high, continue to cast their soft light.

Negroes to Form Labor Unions

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Negroes are organizing their own labor unions because of "the broad national pattern of discrimination" by AFL-CIO organizations, a civil rights leader said Monday.

Making the announcement at a news conference was Herbert Hill, labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Hill criticized established unions for what he called "racist policies" and declared "independent freedom labor unions" are necessary because of discrimination in established labor organizations.

He also said the NAACP would give support to the new movement "wherever AFL-CIO affiliates fail in their legal duty to provide fair and equal representation to minority group union members and also where unions refuse to organize in Negro ghetto areas, as in the Fillmore district in San Francisco."

Hill declined to identify those forming the independent unions and the industries in which they work.

But he cited the AFL-CIO restaurant workers, building tradesmen, and sailors as among those unions he objects to here.

"It is a national movement," Hill said, "and it is going to start right here in San Francisco."

The unions quickly denied any discriminatory practices.

Billy Graham Begins Yule Visit in Viet

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)— Millions of Americans view the Vietnam war "with frustrated impatience," Billy Graham said today as he began a week-long Christmas visit to U.S. forces in Vietnam.

The evangelist said he had no answers himself.

"I don't even pretend to know what to do about the conflict here," he told a news conference. "I might leave here more frustrated than when I came."

Graham arrived Monday for his first visit to the war and "aid one of the primary reasons for his trip was to gather information for use during his world travels."

Jokingly killing himself as the advance man for Francis Cardinal Spellman and comedian Bob Hope, who are also visiting Vietnam this Christmas, Graham said the high spot of his visit will be a Christmas Eve prayer meeting, illuminated by 10,000 candles, at the base camp of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division at An Khe, in the central highlands.

The evangelist is scheduled to hold 10 meetings at various military bases and one on an aircraft carrier in the South China Sea. He will also visit hospitals, missionaries and churches and meet with some of the 300 American chaplains.

Sir Winston Churchill was the oldest leader of the major powers in World War II, followed by Stalin and Roosevelt.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

SUPPOSE YOU HAD TO WASH THESE DISHES DURING THE HOLIDAY SEASON?

Well, you will. An average family will clean up just about this much kitchen mess from Thanksgiving thru New Years. That's a lot of clutter—a lot of mess, a whole lot of time you could spend pleasurably or profitably—if you had an Automatic Dishwasher.

A Dishwasher cuts your kitchen cleanup time by about two-thirds, gets dishes sanitary clean, needs no pre-rinsing—gets you out of the kitchen fast.

See your local dealer about an Automatic Dishwasher—and, Happy Holidays!

FREE An Automatic Electric Blanket with every purchase of a dishwasher during the period November 14—December 31. See the dealer near you who is featuring the FREE Blanket—Dishwasher Promotion.

Early Yule for Tribe

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP) — Christmas came early for the 125 members of the Havasupai Indian tribe who live deep inside Grand Canyon.

Three tons of gifts were parachuted into the gorge Tuesday from a C47 transport plane flown by a volunteer pilot.

In each box were clothing, housewares, tools, toys and food.

"Project Havacare," as it's called, was started 22 years ago by Mrs. Sophie Burden of Wickenburg, Ariz. The gifts were collected in the Wickenburg and Phoenix areas.

2 Steps to Christmas

Don't let lack of ready cash mar your enjoyment of Christmas. Here is a two-step plan for a merrier Christmas this year and next.

1. Get the cash you need now with a Personal Savings Loan at The Kingston Savings Bank. You can borrow up to 100% of your savings account balance at the low discount rate of just $2.88 per $100 per year. Your savings remain intact, earning our generous interest-dividends (a big 5% a year anticipated for this quarter) compounded and credited four times a year.

2. Open a Christmas Club account now to have the cash you need for next year's Christmas. Small weekly deposits add up to a large sum for next year... and when the club is completed according to the weekly payment plan you will receive a CASH BONUS equivalent to 2% per annum interest. In addition, when you open your club account, you will receive — to brighten your home for this Holiday Season.

Post and Harrington operate express runs between Kingston, New York City and Schenectady and now join a select group of National Trailways million milers. (Reynolds photo.)

Woodstock News

Cost of Government Will Go Up in Woodstock During '67

The cost of government in Woodstock will go up in some areas, remain the same in others when 1967 bows in on the calendar. All of which means that town budgets here never fail to expand and rise considerably in a soaring spiral with each succeeding year—and the budget recently adopted by the local Town Board is no exception.

Higher costs of materials and services and local needs have resulted in a 1967 budget for the Town of Woodstock in the whopping sum of $176,308.71. The budget was passed without any changes being made in the preliminary one filed here by the board in early October; it is $22,563.63 higher than last year's budget of $153,745.08.

A breakdown shows total taxes to be raised in all funds are as follows: General Fund — $50,171.80; Health Fund — $50; Highway Fund (Item 1) — $60,453.00; Highway Fund (Items 2, 3, 4) — $31,013.91; Woodstock Fire District — $25,080.00; Woodstock Light District — $2,700.00; Woodstock Gardens Light District — $340; and Woodstock Water District — $6,500.00.

The budget held only a few surprises. Under the category of general government, compensation of election officials has soared from $1,650 in 1966 to $4,500 in 1967. This is easily explained by the fact that Permanent Personal Registration, beginning next year, will require election workers to work more days at registration than they do at the present time.

Salaries for elected officials do not vary next year except in the case of William Klements, superintendent of highways, who has been granted a $1,000 raise from $5,000 to $6,000, and Marjorie Harder, town clerk, whose salary went from $4,300 to $4,680. Assessors' salaries have been upped from $4,600 to $5,000, but no breakdown has been released to show how this has affected the three members of the Board of Assessors.

Other salaries for town officers include: Supervisor, $4,500; total for two Justices of the Peace, $3,600; total for two Councilmen, $1,200.

Some of the major items in the budget are:

Repairs, light, heat and telephone for general government—$5,000; fire and liability insurance — $4,809; service of attorney and litigation expenses—$3,000; compensation of constables and deputy sheriffs — $13,550; recreation—$6,500; building and improvement fund — $2,000; and town dump privileges—$2,500.

Totals shown for planning and zoning matters include: Zoning officer salary—$1,500; Board of Appeals—$100; Planning Board office and other expenses—$1,780; and Planning Board compensation of employees — $1,200.

Highway Fund Increases

Increases, as they so often are, are reflected in the Highway Fund. Total appropriations for general repairs in the highway department have increased from $60,000 to $68,400, and the total amount to be raised under Highway Item 1 has increased from $52,054.41 to $60,453.00. In the bridge fund, materials for repairs and maintenance are listed at $5,000 this year as opposed to $1,500 last year. Repair of machinery, tools and implements for highway work has increased by $1,000 from $4,000 in 1966 to $5,000 in 1967.

Indeed, the Highway Fund gets the lion's share of the budget with the total amount to be raised by taxes this year listed at $91,466.91 as opposed to $79,250.00 last year.

Per capita state aid for general fund is estimated at $24,371.20, up from the 1966 total of $22,348.00. Total receipts in general fund increase from $37,548.00 to $40,601.00.

Autograph Party For Bluestoners

The Catskill Book Shop, Mill Hill Road, will ring out the old year and ring in the new with a gala autograph party in honor of the latest issue of Woodstock's own quarterly magazine, Bluestone.

Donald and Elise Twine, of the Book Shop, have announced the party, replete with bountiful punch bowl and budding authors, for New Year's Eve Afternoon, Dec. 31, from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. Hopefully, all or as many as possible of the current contributors to the new issue of Bluestone will be present to autograph copies of the magazine and their articles.

Everyone is invited to attend this unique holiday affair.

Try Again to Break Deadlock at Mohawk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for Mohawk Airlines and a striking mechanics union were set again today to try for a break in a deadlock over improvements in a pension plan.

The officials failed to reach agreement Tuesday in a session presided over by C. Robert Roadley of the National Mediation Board. He said the talks would resume.

More than 500 mechanics, members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, have been on strike for 13 days.

Mohawk has continued to operate about 70 per cent of its normal schedule and Robert E. Peach, the line's president, said Tuesday Mohawk could continue indefinitely without the mechanics.

Peach said the company had no intention of resuming talks as though "nothing had happened."

Peach said "conditions are very different today, and Mohawk intends to bargain from this position."

Mohawk, the nation's largest regional carrier, has continued to fly its jet aircraft but has grounded all its piston-driven planes. Supervisory personnel have been doing maintenance on the jets.

Overlook Church Receives Twenty

One of the largest Confirmation Classes in the history of Overlook Methodist Church was received this past Sunday. A total of 20 young people were confirmed by the pastor, the Rev. James W. Cook, at the morning worship service. The confirmands were: Mark Bailey, Dorothy Bonestell, Edith Bonestell, Jerry Bonestell, Nicole Desy, Beth Fisher, Cathy Fisher, Mark Grazier, Corine Hutchinson, Caryl Lattot, Debbie Logan, Jim Marcato, Debbie Moyer, Richard Newcomb, Kenneth Noller, Michael Reynolds, Sharon Schulz, Craig Shultis, Tandy Sturgeon and Annette Vredenburg. Each new member was given a New English New Testament, which was presented by Charles Newcomb, chairman of the Membership and Evangelism Commission of the church.

The L&M Youth Group invites members and friends of the congregations of Christ Lutheran and Overlook Methodist Churches to join them in a carolling session Thursday evening at 7 p. m. Cars will leave from the Methodist Church Hall. Hot chocolate will be served in the hall afterwards.

The Christmas Eve Candlelight service will be held at 8 p. m. and everyone is invited. There will be special music and carols. The Christmas Eve meditation will be "Love's Pure Light."

The Christmas Sunday morning service will be held at 11 a. m. and there will be a nursery available for toddlers and infants. The sermon topic will be "The Gift Received." There will be no church school session on Christmas Sunday, or on Sunday Jan. 1. Church school will resume its regular schedule on Jan. 8 at 9:45 a. m.

Indict Upstate Man In Pistol - Slaying

SALEM, N.Y. (AP) — Peter Celeste, 23, of Hudson Falls, faces arraignment Thursday on a charge of first-degree murder in the pistol-slaying Oct. 1 of David Gates, 17, of Fort Edward.

A Washington County grand jury Tuesday returned the first-against Celeste, a part-time musician.

Gates was found dead in Celeste's apartment. Police said the boy had been shot five times in the back by a pistol held at close range.

Officers said they had not established a motive for the shooting. Celeste was held without bail in the Washington County jail.

Thomas A. Edison's laboratory at West Orange, N. J. has been preserved by the National Park Service just as he left it at his death in 1931.

Son Died Near Saigon

Has No Sympathy For Draft-Card Burners Vietnicks

By BOB GILBERT
LIVINGSTON, Tenn. (AP) — James Clarence Davis has no sympathy for draft-card burners and antiwar demonstrators. Five years ago Thursday, his oldest son became the first American soldier to die in Vietnam.

Spec. 4 James T. (Tom) Davis was killed near Saigon Dec. 22, 1961, in a Viet Cong ambush.

In an interview, "If it were up to me, I guess I'd line those demonstrators up against a wall."

"The New Face of War," a book by former Associated Press Correspondent Malcolm Browne, lays on a table in the Davis home. It tells how their son shot back at the enemy before he died: "Davis was alive and mad."

Davis was 25 when he went to Vietnam in May 1961, a volunteer assigned to the U.S. military advisory group.

Shortly before his death, Davis wrote his family "it looks like the bad guys have gotten the word to start giving us hell. It breaks the daily routine even though it could become a bit dangerous."

Had Daughter
Davis' daughter, Cindy, was seven months old when he shipped overseas, and he longed to see her and his wife, Geraldine, now remarried.

The father, a druggist and World War II veteran, had written his son saying he wished they could exchange places for a while so Tom could see his family and go hunting and fishing.

"I know how you feel, dad," Tom wrote back. "I feel a little proud about this deal, too. I just hope that our little bit will help to ease things in this part of the world. I don't feel too badly about having to be here when I think of all the potential good it will have for this country."

The elder Davis said he believes the United States is "doing the right thing by being there, but after we're in a war, I'm for winning it. I'd rather stop those dudes over there, rather than here at home."

Official documents from the U.S. and Vietnam governments, and Tom's letters home, are cherished by the family. Someday they will be given to Tom's daughter.

"Yes, I'm proud of my boy," Davis said. "I'm proud of all those boys over there. They deserve respect—not pity."

Displays Rifle Grenade After Throat Removal

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A Navy surgeon pulled a lethal M79 rifle grenade from the throat of a U.S. Marine private Tuesday night and showed it around the operating room before he found out it might kill the eight persons in the room.

"I didn't know what it was," said the surgeon, Lt. Cmdr. James Chandler of San Francisco. "All the military training I ever had was a couple of weeks where they say 'okay, this is a gun.'"

Patient Doing Fine
The 20-year-old patient is doing fine, Chandler reported. The patient's name was withheld until his relatives are notified.

The Marine, who also had a compound fracture of his right leg from a bullet, was brought to the Da Nang "Charlie" medical hospital at 9:30 Tuesday night.

The M79 round — dome shaped, an inch and a half in diameter and two inches long — had crashed through the Marine's right lower jawbone, traveled through the thick part of the tongue and stopped a fraction of an inch from the soft skin below the lower left jaw-five-hour operation he had no idea what he was going after. He would have sandbagged the operating table and sought expert advice if he had known, Chandler said.

Chandler said that before the bone.

Gets Air Force School

JOSEPH HEYBRUCK

Airman Joseph Heybruck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heybruck of 22 Summer Street, has been assigned to Homestead AFB, Fla., after completing Air Force basic training. The airman, a 1966 graduate of Kingston High School, will be trained on the job as a fabric-leather-rubber repair specialist with the Tactical Air Command.

Attending School

Fireman Thomas A. Krajicek, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Krajicek of 36 Elting Avenue, New Paltz, is attending basic Engineer School at the Service School Command, Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The three-month course covers the operation, maintenance and overhaul of diesel engines, gas turbines and other machinery used on the ships of the fleets of the U. S. Navy.

Brandt Promoted

Walter Edward Brandt Jr., whose parents live at 63 Grant Street, was promoted recently to Gunners Mate Seaman in the U. S. Navy. He is currently operating with "Swiftboat Units" in Vietnam. Brandt graduated from Kingston High School in 1965 and entered the Navy in October of the same year.

Weeks Promoted

Marine Private First Class Arden A. Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Weeks of Kingston, was promoted to his present rank while with the Staging Battalion at Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

Army Graduate

Army Private Raymond L. Cocks Jr., 18, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond L. Cocks, Woodstock, completed a field communication crewman course at Ft. Dix, N. J., Dec. 2.

During the course, he was trained to string wire from the field to the communication center. Instruction was also given in basic electricity, switchboard installation and operation and pole climbing.

Convict 2 in Viet Currency Violations

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A Vietnamese special court convicted two American civilians today of currency violations and sentenced them to five years in prison.

The Americans were also fined $36,850 — the amount of U. S. military payment scrip they allegedly possessed when they were arrested in early October. There is no appeal from the court's ruling.

The men are Paul L. Bennett, 37, of Kong, N.C., formerly employed by RMK-BRJ, the big American construction combine in South Vietnam, and Meril V. Brown, 28, of Massillon, Ohio, who had worked for Sealand Transportation Co., another U. S. firm operating in Vietnam.

They were charged Oct. 4 with illegally attempting to avoid customs and export foreign exchange. Bennett was fined $25,850 and Brown $11,000.

American consular officials said the men probably would serve their sentences in Saigon's Chi Hoa Prison. They said several other Americans are serving terms there for currency violations.

Gives Reducing Advice

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Overweight New Zealanders can receive advice on reducing by telephone. The Seventh Day Adventist Church in Auckland has begun a "dial-to-slim" service, and hundreds of calls a day are being received. The speaker is Mrs. Edna Grosser, wife of the church's public relations officer, Pastor Bert C. Grosser. She has studied nutrition and is a cookery demonstrator.

Mrs. Royael New Appraiser Head

The Mid-Hudson Chapter 123, Society of Real Estate Appraisers held its regular monthly meeting recently at Little Brook Farm Restaurant on Plattekill Turnpike. A dinner preceded the business meeting.

Wilfred Raynor of Warwick, president of Farm and Land Brokers, installed the officers for the new term.

They are Mrs. Adele Royael, SRA, Kingston, president; William J. McIntyre Jr., Newburgh, first vice-president; Mrs. Reta Frederick, Kingston, second vice-president; William F. MacMaster, Beacon, treasurer and Lawrence Benton, Town of Newburgh, secretary. Directors installed included Robert R. Case, Raymond Korzendorfer and Edward C. O'Connor.

Accept New Members

New members accepted were George L. Berry, Remie C. Willett, Stanley L. Voulelis, Joseph Weinreb, Roland Ashcroft and Charles Davies, SREA.

During the term of 1966 there were 24 new associate members accepted.

A report was given by Wilfred Raynor on the NAREB Miami Convention held in Florida.

McIntyre addressed the members on the requirements for the designation of Senior Residential Appraiser.

President Adele Royael announced that a meeting for the officers and directors will be held Jan. 9, 1967 at the Little Brook Restaurant.

Names Committees

Mrs. Royael appointed the following committees: Education and Research: William J. McIntyre Jr., chairman, Dewey Logan, William MacMaster, John Schwartz, Wilfred Raynor, Ethics and Grievance: Humes Flynn, SREA, chairman, Robert Glanz, James Devine, Sidney Diamond, John Thoben. Program, Sidney Diamond, chairman, Neil Callahan, Catherine Kovarovic, Larry Benton, Reta O. Benton, Monticello; John Schwartz, Poughkeepsie; James Rocco, Port Jervis and Wilfred Raynor, Middletown.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

A little item was sent to me a look over from Viola Zaksecki of Second Avenue, Kingston. It is an 1830 Almanac. It is about 4 inches, and I take it on a paper. It is bound by hand-sewing and the thread is still good, and also the book. It is 36 years old. Today's paper and thread is not likely to stay in that condition for so many years.

On the back of this old Almanac is a full page advertisement of John Williams, of the Checkered Store, No. 82 Genesee Street, Utica. He sold drugs and medicine, paints, linseed oil, dye woods, dye stuffs, machine cards, clothiers' tools, shearing machines at manufacturer's prices. He also had groceries, liquors and fruit, wholesale and retail. He had white lead, blue vitriol, copper and alum, spermaceti oil, Lorillard's and Gilbert's Snuff and Tobacco, dipped and mould candles, brown and white soap, tar, pitch, rosin and turpentine. Item is dated Sept. 15, 1829. They blame the drug-stores today in 1966 in selling everything, what about 130 some years ago.

For the month of December which they wrote in 1830 "Begins on Wednesday: hath thirty-one days." For Dec. 9 they have "Milton born 1708;" for Dec. 14, Washington died, 1799 "and may snow" for the 16th "Look for storm" for the 17th, 23 degrees. Dec. 22nd, "shortest day." For Dec. 23rd, "for fine sleighing." All the months are there, and illustrations of the zodiac signs. There is advice for the farmer. Kingston is mentioned in this little Almanac of 1830 under second Circuit Court in "Ulster, at the court house in Kingston on the third Tuesday in April."

In this 1830 Almanac they say that Andrew Jackson, then President of the United States was getting $25,000 a year. John C. Calhoun, vice president received $5,000. Martin Van Buren, secretary of state received $6,000. The attorney general's salary was $3,000.

They have various advice such as "To destroy caterpillars. A piece of woolen rag thrown over a bush or tree, gets covered with the leaf-devouring insects, and thus they can be destroyed. It seems they take to the cloth for shelter. This was discovered by accident, when a woolen rag blew on a currant bush." There are little stories and games and parlor tricks in the little book, all written well and readable. Can you imagine the type of schools they had around here in 1830, yet they learned to read and write and spell and print.

Which reminds me, what will happen to former School No. 2 when the new Community College is built. Will it be demolished like School No. 3, or will children in that vicinity be allowed to use it. Logic, common sense and the saving of taxpayers' money is not the order of the day in 1966. Our Kingston City Aldermen will have a real lovely bonus every pay day, which they gave to themselves in 1965, just at the time when hundreds of taxable buildings are being demolished what will happen to the taxes in 1967.

A Kingstonian who was a teacher for many years in Weehawken some years ago, told me, how they there too, started spending more than they had in that part of Jersey and could not raise the money and finally, they had some sort of script which was given to all municipal employees including school teachers. New York City, nobody wanted them. They could spend it in Weehawken, but across the river in for about two years.

Miniskirters Keep Warm With Old-Time Undies

LONDON (AP) — The dolly girls of swinging London are ushering in the first long winter of the world's shortest skirts.

All over London, thousands of English girls trip to work showing vast expanses of sheer-stockinged bare skins.

And on this misty, chilly, soggy island, that's not style — it's sheer courage. Or craziness. Or both.

How do they do it?

A personal poll of some of the nettles revealed a lot.

They do it because the clothing manufacturers actually brought back old-fashioned underwear, craftily camouflaged as a space age style gimmick.

Called tights, they're really fashionable longjohns from long ago.

Sold in a multitude of colors, with silver, the most favored, they begin at midday's toes and, hugging flesh every inch of the way, stretch upward to clutch her waist.

These smarted-up longjohns, which could more properly be called longjohns, retail in a variety of designs — diamonds, flowers, vines, birds, boats, bees, serpents, dragons, flamingoes, spiders and just plain old fisherman fish nets.

The all-enveloping body stocking, reaching from tootsies to tipples, is another comforting gadget for winter.

In Britain's wintry blasts however, tights and body stockings are not enough. Beneath the tights and body stockings in the middle altitudes the girlies wear a shortie version of real heavy drawers, disguised as tailored briefs or panties.

London designer Mary Quant has introduced knickers to match minidresses and miniskirts. These are really streamlined bloomers from yesteryear.

Let no one ever say the British dollys wear no more beneath their miniskirts than the Scot is supposed to wear beneath his kilt.

SALT! Have we got SALT!

Though it's hard for us to tell funny stories at a time like this, we keep thinking of the merchant whose store was lined with shelves of salt. A stranger walked in and observed, "you must sell a lot of salt." The merchant slapped his brow and said, "Me, I sell very little — but the man who sold it to me, could HE sell salt!" We're in the same predicament with portables. We have compact record players, smaller than an attache case, perfect for kiddies, or students. We have stereo record-players, with twin matched speakers that detach for fantastic sound reproduction. We have portable TV's that slide in and out of a console cabinet, and some that weigh only 12 pounds, and play anywhere thanks to a power-packed DC battery. 10-Year Building Plan Is Under Study by RVCS Board

Dr. Ted T. Grenda, Rondout Valley Superintendent of Schools, presented a review of the district's housing facilities the probable building needs for the next 10 years at the December meeting of the Rondout Valley Central School Board of Education.

The board approved his recommendation that the Citizens Building Committee be asked to study this report. To this end, the committee will hold a breakfast meeting at 8:30 a. m., Saturday, Jan. 7, in the high school cafeteria. The members of the board may attend.

In Dr. Grenda's judgment, the present high school will be adequate into the 1970's as will the new middle school. A careful and objective look needs to be given to elementary facilities, however. Dr. Grenda recommends that a school be constructed on the recently acquired Ballard property in the very near future and that a school be built in the Kenhonskon-Accord area. The need for the latter is not so immediate.

Reasons Given

Construction of new elementary schools is necessary for several reasons. Chief among them, perhaps, is the need to eliminate the present temporary structures, whose shortcomings have been well-documented. The construction of new, modern schools will have the overall advantage of providing all areas of the district with adequate facilities. As matters now stand, some children in the Rondout Valley district are better-housed and have more access to special facilities and services than others. The adjustment of this inequity merits priority, Dr. Grenda said.

The following people have been invited to meet with the Citizens Building Committee:

A. J. Anderson, John Basten, Ewald Bors-Koefoed, Mark Bryant, Dr. George Bushnell, Arthur Chapp, Edward Coles, William Davenport, A. W. Embree Jr., Irving Feinberg, Daniel Gelles, John Hall, Mrs. Charlotte Hunt, Ernest Keator, Warren Larrabee, Herman Miller, Mrs. Ann Morgan, Arthur Mulligan, Dr. Inez Sartorius, Edward Scharrer, Mrs. Donald Schoonmaker, Hamilton Sherman, George Silkworth, Albert Sperath.

Following the routine reports, the board approved the appointment of John Stewart as a custodian at an annual salary of $4,000. Percy Greene, Clerk of the Works, reported to the board on the progress of construction at the high school and middle school. The board confirmed the eventual move of the administration to the middle school.

Authorize Bus Purchase

Brochures on three standard school plans available through the New York State Department of Education were reviewed. The board authorized bids on one station wagon and one 61-passenger bus for the 1967-68 school year. A recommendation to permit teachers with out-of-state certification to qualify for salary schedule A-2 was approved, with a three-year limit imposed. Thus there would be no movement on the schedule after three years except as the teacher has achieved New York State certification.

It was reported that the district's first payment on the bonds, approximately $57,000, is due in April, contrary to expectations. This means that interest earned on these bonds will pay for the first payment, but will not be available for general fund use as originally projected.

To Have Evaluation

The board was reminded that the first part of the January meeting will be an executive session and will involve an evaluation of the staff and the superintendent.

Dr. Grenda said that he was planning to use the day set aside for a Superintendent's Conference in April for four 2-hour in-service workshops instead. The high school can use the time for accreditation purposes and a number of curricular areas are in need of attention.

Johnson May Tour L-A, Also Attend Summit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson may make a tour of Latin America next spring, tying it in with attendance at a hemisphere summit conference. That prospect appeared Tuesday as the President received reports from two U.S. diplomats, just back from extensive trips south of the border, that they found unanimous support for a summit session in April.

Lincoln Gordon, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and Sol Linowitz, ambassador to the Organization of American States, avoided any flat statement that the American chief executives will get together. But they left no doubt they expect it.

Asked about the possibility Johnson might travel more widely in connection with the meeting, Gordon replied: "That's a question that will have to be considered in the future. It is not impossible."

Area Blanketed

was pronounced dead on arrival. The other woman suffered multiple fractures of both legs and arms, broken ribs, cerebral concussion and internal injuries. Her condition was listed as critical.

Orange County Coroner Harvey Agnew ruled the death of the woman accidental. He said death was due to a fractured neck.

Troopers cited Mrs. Partington for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent, it was reported. The fatality was investigated by BCI Investigator Larry Scott, Troopers Philip Harth and Harry Brown.

Two Hurt on 32

Two persons were injured as the result of a traffic accident on Route 32, Town of Rosendale, shortly after 3 p. m. yesterday. Deputy Sheriff Marshall Canosa reported the cars were driven by Gerald L. Loudermilk, 32, of 45 Augusta Street, city, and Elizabeth Phillips, 49, of Rt. 1, 209, Tillson. Loudermilk was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors Ambulance and treated for head, arm and body injuries. The woman was treated for lacerations of the left arm and head.

Mrs. Anna Hacker, 55, of Wallkill, was injured at 6:30 p. m. when a car in which she was riding was involved in a collision with a vehicle operated by Joseph Hanewich, 45, of Wallkill. The injured woman was treated at St. Luke's Hospital for facial lacerations.

Trooper J. B. Crodelle of the Highland State Police reported Anna Hacker, 23, of Wallkill, was driving East on Route 300 about a half mile west of Route 208, Town of Shawangunk, when the vehicle lost traction in the snow and skidded into the path of Hanewich's car.

Hurt in Collision

Robert Adams, 18, of Little Neck, was injured at 11:45 p. m. when a car in which he was a passenger was involved in a collision on Route 209 about 2 1/2 miles north of Accord. Ellenville State Police Sergeant F. C. Thompson said Adams, who suffered a possible broken left thumb, was riding in a car driven by William Clement, 19, of Bridgehampton when the vehicle skidded out of control on a right curve and overturned into a ditch.

At 6 p. m. cars operated by Betty DeRosa, 49, of Wawarsing, and Raymond Black, 46, of Ellenville, collided on Route 209, Town of Wawarsing, about one mile north of the Sullivan County line. No injuries were reported.

Sergeant Thompson said the woman was driving south and Black was attempting to pass when the DeRosa car slid on snow into the path of the other vehicle and the crash resulted. Troopers cited the woman for failure to keep to the right. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel.

Cars Operated by Joan Murray of Chestnut Street, Rolling Meadows, and William Sponaro, Cottekill, were involved in a property damage accident at 2:30 p. m. on Route 28 at the entrance to Big Scot's according to the sheriff's office.

Shokan Man Hurt

Gus Anderson, 68, of Shokan, was injured at 3 p. m. when his car skidded out of control and hit an embankment on the right side of Route 28, Town of Hurley, according to State Police Sergeant Charles Bundschuh. Anderson received lacerations of the lower lip.

At 8:30 p. m. a car operated by Albert Jackson, 19, of 39 Livingston Street, city, skidded on snow-covered pavement on Route 9W, Town of Ulster, and struck an embankment. Arebelle Washington, 50, of 35 Livingston Street, a passenger, sustained bruises of the right leg and left shoulder. She was treated at Kingston Hospital, according to Trooper J. A. Fitzgerald.

Other Mishaps

Gerald Van Steenberg, 24, of RD 1, Saugerties, was injured at 4:30 p. m. when his car was involved in a collision on Route 32, Town of Saugerties. The other vehicle was driven by Edward Vaughn, 18, Saugerties. Van Steenberg received lacerations of the lip and possible concussion, according to Trooper Fitzgerald, who reported both vehicles were traveling north when the Vaughn car stopped to make a left turn and the Van Steenberg vehicle skidded on snow.

Sergeant Bundschuh reported Eleanor Sherman, 48, of Rhinebeck, escaped injury at 4:15 p. m. when her car skidded out of control on Route 208 and hit guard rails.

Carrie Norman, 57, of 16 Gill Street, received bruises of the left side and left arm and lacerations of the face when her car skidded on Route 28, Town of Hurley and was in collision with a truck operated by Thomas McCormack, 23, of 297 Hasbrouck Avenue. The mishap occurred at 5 p. m. according to Trooper Albert Ruback, of the Kingston substation. Trooper said both vehicles were traveling east on the highway and McCormack was unable to stop in time to avoid the collision.

Howard Ryan of Salem Street, Port Ewen, reported to the sheriff's office at 8:25 p. m. that he was driving on the street not far from his home when his car skidded and hit guard rails. He received cuts of the lip and was treated at Kingston Hospital.

The Magic of Christmas . . .

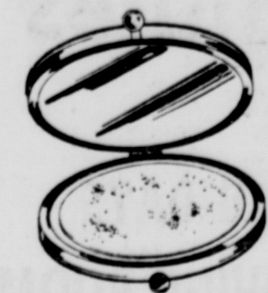

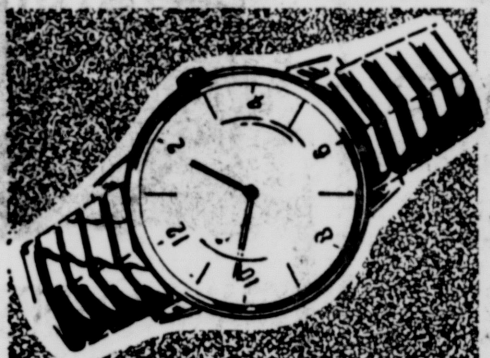

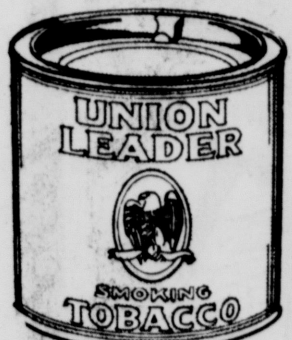

It's in the carols—sweet and clear;
It's in the church bells that you hear;
It's in the sun and in the snow;
It's in the candles all aglow;
It's in the shepherds on the hill;
It's in the words, "Peace and Good-Will";
It's everywhere—it's in each prayer!
It's set apart—it's in each heart!

And forever and ever, while stars shine above—
Be this season to each of us, one of faith and of love.
May the Magic of Christmas enrapture each heart—
Bestowing its blessings on all—both near and apart.

New County Post Supervisors Need Administrator To Ready Budget

Need for a county administrator to coordinate and administer the affairs of the county of Ulster was expressed by several supervisors Monday evening at the public hearing and during the session of the board when Ulster county's record $12,341,047.82 budget for 1967 was adopted.

Lateness in preparation of the budget with insufficient time for members of the board to review the budget was discussed.

Would Expedite Matters

It was stated that with a county administrator department heads could be interviewed earlier, information as to department requirements would be available earlier and that information transmitted to the Budget Committee for earlier action.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th Ward, who voted against adoption of the budget on the grounds of inequities in salary increases and also because of insufficient funds being made available for the Probation Department, suggested that there was a "dire" need for a county administrator.

Raichle in objecting to adoption of the 1967 budget remarked that the Probation Department brought in through collections in "support cases" some $30,000, still, the department was denied a sufficient salary for the head of the department, the chief probation officer. In 1966 his salary was $7,400. A request for a raise to $9,000 was denied and a $500 salary increase given. Raichle said the salary should be at least $8,500.

Spoke in Favor

Also speaking in favor of a county administrator was Supervisor Douglas Dye (R), Town of Kingston, chairman of the Public Welfare Committee, who said there was need for a county executive officer.

One of the duties of a county administrator would be to coordinate the various activities of the county government on a full-time basis and act to bring about closer relationship with county departments and members of the board.

The plan has been discussed at various times and suggestions have been advanced that study be made of the possibilities.

Under the 1967 county budget approved Monday night by the board of supervisors provision is made for an additional investigator in the office of the district attorney.

In addition to Investigator Arthur A. Brown, who has been investigator for the district attorney's office since his resignation as Ulster County Investigator in the Sheriff's Department, provision is made for an additional investigator. While classified as an investigator, Brown's duties will actually become that of office manager. That salary was increased from $6,800 to $7,500. The budget provides for a second investigator at a salary of $7,000.

It was stated at the meeting that County Investigator Thomas Mayone, who has been with the Sheriff's Department since the resignation of Mr. Brown, will become the new investigator in the district attorney's office.

Sheriff William B. Martin, who was present at the budget hearing Monday, said he had not been apprised of the fact that Investigator Mayone would be going to the district attorney's office but later stated he had a man to succeed Mayone, "provided the salary is satisfactory" to the man he had in mind.

The change will become effective January 1, 1967, it was stated.

On Cancer Committee

Dr. Glenn H. Leak, Buffalo, a former president of the American Cancer Society, New York State Division, has been elected vice chairman of the American Cancer Society's Medical and Scientific Committee. Dr. Leak, clinical associate professor of surgery and cancer co-ordinator at the State University of New York at Buffalo School of Medicine, has been a delegate-director of the American Cancer Society since 1963. Dr. Leak, who received his M.D. degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo School of Medicine, is an oncologist in private practice. He is associate in surgery at E. J. Meyer Memorial, General and Children's Hospitals in Buffalo.

Hands Off on Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trucking employers say they will not attempt to influence the make-up of the Teamsters Union negotiating committee — meaning they won't try to keep Union President James R. Hoffa out of prison during negotiations early next year on a nationwide contract.

Hoffa and some union officials claim that Hoffa is indispensable to the negotiations. But the Trucking Employers, Inc., in effect said Tuesday they won't try to delay Hoffa's going to prison for a conviction and eight-year sentence on a charge of jury tampering, which the Supreme Court upheld last week.

Vietnam War
Woodstock, N. Y. 12498
Dec. 16, 1966

Editor, The Freeman

The continuing repercussions of Congressman Resnick's involvement in the matter of the adoption of a little girl and the fact of that involvement in the first instance are shocking if dramatic examples of the ugliness of politics. The uses to which a politician will put whatever he can lay his hands on if he feels it feeds his political ambitions are a painful commentary on the shoddy ways in which too many men obtain office.

Leaving out of account the whole garish proceedings with the exception of Mr. Resnick's maudlin accounts of the matter, it occurs to me to wonder why the Congressman is not concerned about the wretched brutal deaths by napalm of thousands of Vietnamese children.

Mr. Resnick in following the Administration line and lies on Vietnam has succeeded in mobilizing the majority of the voters in the 28th Congressional District. It is to be pitied that the voters who pride themselves on making a free choice are kept ignorant of the facts in this wretched war.

How many people know that the United States was first to violate the Geneva Accords? How many people know that we poured millions into Vietnam to help the French when they were being routed by the Vietnamese who had been enslaved by their French exploiters for a century? How many people know that the National Liberation Front was not communist-inspired when the Southern Vietnamese rebelled against the brutal rule of Diem?

How many know that Ho Chi Minh is a hero in Vietnam—both North and South—because it was under his guidance that the French were vanquished in the cruel war of liberation by the Vietnamese?

How many people know that Colonel Ky and most of the generals that make up his administration fought on the side of the oppressive French against their Vietnamese brethren?

The Vietnamese wanted to overthrow the shackles of oppression. For this the United States, born in revolution and now chained to a dismal policy of the most rigid conservatism if not reaction, is bleeding our nation of billions of dollars that ought to be spent in the service of our own people and our own cities.

This is what Congressman Resnick represents. The man who fought for enlightened legislation in his first term has gone politically berserk under the corrupting aegis of power. Mr. Resnick weeps crocodile tears when he gives lip service to his concern about one little girl. But when you ask him about the senseless murder of innocent Vietnamese children he is evasive as he has been throughout his last campaign.

Sincerely,
SYLVIA DAY

Faces Robbery Charges

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A 23-year-old Boston, Mass., man faces charges in a $27,000 robbery of a bank on Dec. 9 and a $2,000 holdup of a housing project office on Nov. 2.

Judge William G. Heffron of City Court ordered Robert Jordan, formerly of Buffalo, to be held Tuesday for the Erie County Grand Jury on a charge of robbing the Lakeview Housing Project.

Jordan, who surrendered Monday to FBI agents here, also is one of four men police said were involved in the $27,000 holdup of a Manufacturers & Traders Trust Co. branch.

Heffron dismissed a robbery charge, stemming from the Lakeview holdup, against Harry Stokes, 25, of Buffalo, for insufficient identification. Stokes was a second man facing bank robbery charges.

The other two, who were arrested Saturday with Stokes, are Robert A. Hult, 23, and Robert M. Ricks, 21, both of Buffalo.

Dies in Fire

WESTFIELD, N. Y. (AP)—A man was burned fatally today when a smudge pot exploded and showered him with flaming gasoline from a can he held, police said.

James J. June, 65, of Westfield, died in Westfield Memorial Hospital of third-degree burns about his entire body.

Business Mirror Reflections

'Death Of A President' Shows Vast Profits of 'Bookmaking'

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Over-shadowed in the dispute about the possible publication of "The Death of a President" are some of the biggest dollar signs in publishing history.
William Manchester, the author, would become a wealthy man under his contract with Look magazine, and his agent would receive one of the biggest commissions on record.

Library to Benefit
The John F. Kennedy Library would benefit by hundreds of thousands of dollars. Look, which offered $665,000 for serial rights, would have a circulation spurt. Dell Books, which reportedly hopes to obtain reprint rights for a million dollars, could hope for a sale in the millions of copies.

This book, nevertheless, is not so much an exception as the continuation of a trend. Publishing, which still retains remnants of the rollicking and barehanded atmosphere, is expanding rapidly today.
As the Authors Guild will attest, many of its members have very meager incomes. The Guild estimates only a few hundred authors make a living solely from books. But, of these, about a score have become wealthy in the past few years.

Profits Way Up
Profits of some publishers have risen sharply. Their shares have been in demand on stock exchanges. And they have been eagerly sought as merger candidates.
The American public is literate not only in the basic sense of knowing how to read and write, but it is becoming more avid in its demands. In response, publishing receipts last year rose 10 per cent to more than $2 billion. Competition to publish quality works also stiffened. The office of Manchester's agent, for example, said the serial rights for his work brought a higher bid than anyone expected.
Manchester reportedly intends to give to the Kennedy Library most of the hard-cover book profits beyond expenses. He was advanced $40,000 presumably to cover expenses and other cash needs while working on the book.

Under a popular form of contract, an author receives 10 per cent of the retail price for the first 5,000 copies sold, 12.5 per cent for the next 5,000 and 15 per cent for all copies beyond 10,000.
On the sale of 50,000 copies of a $5 book — which would bring it close to the best-seller lists — an author might receive $35,625.
Also Foreign Receipts
After that, the author and his agent may have reclined for British and foreign markets, if such markets exist for the work. An author has other rights also. The first serial rights give him the opportunity for magazine or newspaper presentation of part of the book in advance of publication.
Manchester's income will come primarily from the first serial rights, sold to Look for $665,000. Under a standard contract, 10 per cent of this goes to his agent, a figure confirmed by the agent's office.
In most contracts provision is also made for income from performance rights — television, motion pictures, plays. These rights generally remain with the author.

RFK Not Sure Direct Primary Answer to Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bitter, divisive fights over top nominations have long been a major political liability for New York State Democrats but Sen. Robert F. Kennedy isn't sure a direct primary is the answer.

A direct primary system "could make things worse instead of better," the Democratic senator said in an interview.

He expressed concern that the time, expense and political rough-and-tumble of a primary campaign could discourage educators and businessmen, for example, from competing for a nomination for an office for which they are highly qualified.

A combination of a convention and a primary, such as some

Children's Home Christmas Party

The Children's Home of Kingston annual Christmas celebration will be held Thursday, it was announced today by Lawrence B. Siewers, executive director.

The boys ranging in age from 6 to 14 will have a traditional Christmas dinner followed by group singing and the opening of presents. These gifts are selected for the individual child on the basis of his needs. Since the majority of the boys have parents with whom they will spend the holiday, the administrators try by careful planning to avoid duplication of presents.

In the afternoon and early evening, the boys will go caroling.

Their schedule includes a visit to the pediatric ward of Kingston Hospital, the Ulster County Infirmary and will conclude with community caroling on the square at Highland and Clifton Avenues. This part of the program was planned to enable the boys to do something for others.

Following the caroling, there will be a party in the gym with a band under the direction of Father Brown of Mt. St. Alphonsus, reading of "The Night Before Christmas," as well as plenty of refreshments for all. Members of the board of directors and staff will be present throughout the day to celebrate with the children.

CHOP ART is the new form used by Francis Hutchins of New York, who uses a chain saw to create animal figures. Hutchins says the chain saw makes it possible to carve fast enough to make a living out of wood sculpture.

Move Rejected To Hike Bail For Coppolino

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A move to increase Dr. Carl Coppolino's $15,000 bail until he has been brought to trial in the death of his first wife has been rejected.

Coppolino, acquitted last week by a Freehold, N.J., jury of charges that he killed a former neighbor, is to go on trial here Feb. 13 in the death of Dr. Carmela Coppolino, 32.

Both Sides Fail

In rejecting the state's motion to increase Coppolino's bail,

Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth said Tuesday. "The state has failed to show good cause for any increase, and I also feel the defendant has failed to show good cause to reduce the bail."

Asst. State Atty. William Strode had contended that "at the time bail was set, Dr. Coppolino was in the custody of another state and facing a murder charge. Now he is free from New Jersey, and we feel we should have more bail set."

Charged by Florida

Coppolino, 34, an anesthesiologist, and his first wife moved to Sarasota shortly after the death of retired Army Lt. Col. William Farber in whose death Coppolino was acquitted.

Coppolino is accused by Florida of fatally drugging his first wife. She died in August 1965 at the couple's Sarasota home of an apparent heart attack.

Coppolino originally was scheduled to stand trial in Sarasota last November. Instead he was freed on the $15,000 bail and taken to New Jersey.

CP Telethon Changed to January Date

The annual telethon for the benefit of Cerebral Palsy, held prior to Christmas for the past six years, will be held the weekend of Jan. 28 and 29. Once again the telethon will be carried on WTEN-TV, Channel 10, it was announced today by Edward deGroff, president of United Cerebral Palsy Ulster County.

"The reason for the change in date from the traditional Christmas season to the end of January is due to prior network commitments between WTEN and the CBS Television Network," deGroff said. He elaborated by saying "WTEN had no alternative and we are certain that the change in date will not alter the fact that our telethon is rated as one of the most successful in the country. The generosity of the public in our area has been phenomenal over the past six years and we are certain the public support will continue."

Will Name Workers

The members of the telethon committee and the location for the telethon will be announced in the near future.

The telethon was conceived by the Capital District Chapter seven years ago as a means of receiving funds to support the Albany Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center. It was enlarged five years ago to include those Cerebral Palsy chapters carried in the viewing area of WTEN, one of which is UCP of Ulster County.

Last year the Cerebral Palsy Telethon collected more than $160,000 to support the programs carried out by the Cerebral Palsy Association of the Capital District, Ulster County, Berkshire County, Schenectady County, Glens Falls and the Central Mohawk Valley.

The telethon is one of the means UCP of Ulster County raises funds for its annual budget. Because children from throughout Ulster and Greene Counties are treated by the local center, it is necessary to seek additional support from those areas outside Community Chest areas.

Dies of Burns

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Rosalie Yates, 42, of this community near Schenectady, died Tuesday in St. Mary's Hospital of burns suffered last Wednesday when her bedding caught fire in her home.

Firemen said the fire apparently was caused by a cigarette. Mrs. Yates lived at 39 Roosevelt Rd.

Adult Courses Listed At Ellenville School

Registration for the second term of the adult education program in Central School No. 2, Ellenville, will be held Jan. 3-5 from 7-9 p. m. The classes, which begin in the second week in January, must have at least ten registrants each or they will be cancelled.

Tentative courses to be offered include: Monday: Oil painting, sewing, modern math. for parents, piano and driver training; Tuesday: Typing, oil painting and community choral group; Wednesday: Beginning English, high school equivalency, sewing, oil burner maintenance and Spanish or French (the course with the largest registration will be offered); Thursday: Physical fitness for women.

Persons wishing to take the driver training course are required to have a learner's permit.

350,000 Gypsies

PRAGUE (AP) — There are 200,000 gypsies in Czechoslovakia, 150,000 of them in Slovakia, the news agency C.T.K. reported recently. C.T.K. said 1,183 gypsy villages were registered in Slovakia and some of the families have up to 20 children.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The University of New Mexico is discontinuing the practice of assigning a seven-digit number to each student for their records.

Instead, the school said, the students' nine-digit Social Security numbers will be used. Students without a Social Security card have been advised to get one before registration next fall.

Red Subs Stay Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says Soviet submarines are steering clear of U.S. coasts, the South China Sea off Vietnam and other sensitive areas.

"They don't want to be caught inadvertently in any embarrassing position," said Vice Adm. Charles B. Martell, head of the Navy antisubmarine program. He said the Soviet program, however, includes perhaps 400 subs and involves increasing operations around the world. He said about 45 Soviet subs are nuclear-powered and that about 120 missiles are mounted in about 40 of the more modern subs.

Total Still Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military spent $23-million less in November than October — but the $5.26 billion November total was still far above original budget estimates.

The figures reflect payment of bills rather than necessarily the level of military activity.

Sentence Paltz Youths, Seized After Lot Melee

Three New Paltz youths who were involved in a melee at the New Paltz High School parking lot following a basketball game between New Paltz and Onteora High School Dec. 9, were sentenced to 10 days in the county jail Tuesday by Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider. The arrests were made by Deputy Sheriff Robert Grennie and New Paltz Police Patrolman Cyrus Countryman following an investigation. Bennie Bevier, 17, and his brother Louis Bevier, 20, and John Williams, 16, New Paltz were arraigned before Justice Schneider at 1 p. m. Tuesday and on their pleas of guilty to third degree assault were given the jail sentences.

Two Severely Injured

As a result of the melee, which followed the defeat of the New Paltz team by a 74 to 73 score, two Phoenicia youths were severely injured. Art Kahil and Joe Eisenbeil, both students at Onteora Central School, spectators at the game, suffered injuries when rocks were thrown through the windows of the buses which had conveyed the team and spectators to New Paltz.

The incident took place, without school authorities knowledge, after the game while the team and spectators were boarding buses to return home.

Others Assaulted

Several other students were assaulted and bus windows were broken by rocks. According to those at the school parking lot the assault took place after the overtime game. It is alleged that more than 200 persons, most of them of high school age, were in the parking area throwing rocks and threatening the students from the visiting school.

Hancock Man Killed

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Emmet M. Emrich, 74, of Hancock, was injured fatally Tuesday when the automobile in which he was riding struck a utility pole off Interstate 81 near here.

Emrich died in Binghamton General Hospital.

The driver, Dr. William H. May, 71, also of Hancock, a retired dentist, was reported in fair condition today in the hospital.

State Police said the highway was slick because of snow and ice.

Warn of Delays Without Zip Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — ZIP codes are important on packages to servicemen overseas, too, says the Post Office Department.

Without a ZIP code, packages can be delayed from three to six days. If the designation of the servicemen's military unit is also missing, the package will come back to the sender.

Most of the department's publicity about its ZIP code program has been aimed at domestic mailings. But in January 1965, a spokesman said Tuesday, the old Army Post Office — APO — and Fleet Post Office — FPO — numbers were also changed to ZIP code designations.

Packages for servicemen overseas are sent to APO and FPO addresses in the United States for shipment overseas.

COMMEMORATE TWO ANNIVERSARIES— Parishioners of St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, honored two local churchmen at a festive luncheon Sunday. The occasion had been arranged to commemorate the 37th anniversary in the church of Monsignor Archibald Damm and the first anniversary in the priesthood of the Rev. George Thompson. Among principals at the celebration were (first row, l-r) Mrs. John Thompson, mother of the young priest being honored; the Rev. Mr. Thompson, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's; Rt. Rev. Monsignor Archibald Damm, pastor of the church. In the second row, same order, are Mrs. Adelaide McHenry, Daniel O'Donnell, Michael A. Ferraro, dinner chairman, and Mrs. Daniel O'Donnell.

SAUGERTIES NEWS
Village Board Makes Refunds,
Discusses 3 Sewerage Items

Two resolutions concerning erroneous assessments, discussion of Saugerties lighthouse and a traffic signal, and three items involving sewerage matters and problems highlighted Monday night's meeting of the Saugerties Village Board.

Trustees passed two resolutions in accordance with affidavits submitted by the Village Board of Assessors, requesting that refunds be made for erroneous assessments made during the 1966 fiscal year. Refunds will go to the Newburgh Savings Bank in the amount of $193.48 and to Homer and Dorothy Strong in the amount of $53.25.

A letter was read from the Hudson River Valley Commission stating that correspondence recently sent to them by the village will be most useful in arriving at what they hope will be a satisfactory solution to the preservation of the Saugerties lighthouse. When announcement was made recently that the lighthouse and others along the Hudson River would be demolished in the spring, local officials and private citizens began a drive to assure saving the Saugerties landmark as a museum. Another letter read was from the State Traffic Commission and advised that an investigation is being conducted to determine the feasibility of installing a flashing traffic signal at the intersection of Ulster Avenue and Elizabeth Street. Many local residents feel such a light is a vital necessity at that location.

More Chlorine Used—Sewerage Commissioner Gregory A. Mulstay reported that the use of chlorine in disposal plants locally has doubled due to new Health Department regulations which require all chlorinators to be in operation throughout the entire year. In the past, such operation was not necessary during the winter months.

Sewerage, too, concerned John McDonough, of Prospect Street, who appeared before the board to complain of recent troubles with sewer lines in his neighborhood. Mayor Cornelius M. Cox noted that the board was of the opinion that this problem had been solved last spring when the Public Works Department repaired most of the lines on Prospect Street. He said McDonough's complaint was the first received since that time, but promised that the public works crew would flush out manholes periodically and make necessary repairs to the line in the spring, or sooner if weather permits.

In line with the hiring of Brinnier and Larios of Kingston, as village engineers earlier this year to draw up recommendations for sewerage expansion to eliminate pollution, the mayor read a letter from this firm. The correspondence concerned scheduling of work for secondary sewerage treatment facilities. After some discussion, Village Clerk James V. Gage was instructed to contact Brinnier and Larios and ask them to attend the next board meeting to further discuss these matters.

Fire Commissioner Donald R. McCaig reported that the fire department had been called out last Saturday night to extinguish a fire in a clothes dryer at the Partition Street laundromat. He noted that this was the second such call received recently in conjunction with a clothes dryer fire; said he has notified local fire chiefs to make periodic inspections of all laundromats in the village.

Notes Holiday Projects

Trustee Mulstay noted that the Woman's Club of Saugerties, with the help of other local organizations, decorated vacant store buildings in the village. He asked that a letter of thanks be written in gratitude for this community holiday service. Mulstay reported that tulip bulbs, donated by the Garden Club, and a King red maple tree, donated by St. Mary's Seminary, of Garrison, have been planted at the municipal beach. He also offered a new ordinance to govern removal of snow from sidewalks in the village. After discussion of this matter, Mayor Cox appointed a committee consisting of Mulstay, and Trustees Clements and Steele to study the ordinance.

Police Commissioner Charles W. Steele Jr. reported that the State Department of Correction had recently inspected the village lock-up and found the cell to be in satisfactory condition. Before adjournment, Mayor Cox read a letter from Lester Ostoyic, of 124 Partition Street, requesting the board to grant a 50 cent rate increase to Videcom, Inc. of Saugerties for cable television service furnished its customers. In other business, the board changed the date of the next meeting from Jan. 2 to Jan. 9.

Donations Made To Mission and Clubhouse Work

Saugerties Columbiettes' December meeting, which combined business with a Christmas party, was a well-attended event. Members voted a donation to purchase sewing machines needed by Father McCloskey in his mission work and also took up a special collection for a Christmas gift for him. Evelyn Carlson read a letter from Father McCloskey, expressing his gratitude.

Names of eight candidates were read and accepted unanimously as new members to receive their first degree at the January meeting. They are: Evelyn Becker, Gloria Boyle, Kathleen Kehoe, Patricia McGuire, Hedy Meier, June Meyer, Margaret Ostoyic and Dorothy Worthmann. In January, too, the organization will award its attendance prize and discuss plans for a rummage sale.

Sale date will be announced as soon as arrangements are complete. Those interested in donating articles for the sale may arrange pick-ups by calling the following: Glasco-Barclay Heights area—Mary Campochiaro, Mary Marabella, Mary Riccio and Marie Cullen; Veteran—Eleanor Rothe, Jeanette Curry, Marie Sheehan, Betty Rafferty; Saugerties—Patricia Blundell, Isabella Hackett, Nancy Barber, Gilda Iannone, Laura Buono and Eva Sweeney. Collections have already started and pick-ups will be arranged immediately.

At the party meeting, members of the Columbiettes heard a report by Eva Sweeney on a tea she attended recently at Benedictine Hospital, sponsored by the Auxiliary there. Also attending from Saugerties were Laura Buono, Jeanette Curry and Betty Rafferty. Members learned of the services performed by the Auxiliary. Anyone interested in joining this hospital volunteer organization should contact Mrs. Adrian Lemon.

The Christmas party featured a ham dinner, cooked and served by the Knights of Columbus; the arrival of Santa Claus, who distributed gifts; the awarding of three turkeys as attendance prizes to Betty Lynch, Mary Riccio and Anne Vozdik; and the presentation of the decorative centerpiece from the officers' table to Elly Geskie. Another highlight was the presentation by Eva Sweeney, Columbiettes president, of a $500 check to Grand Knight Philip Sweeney to be used to help defray costs of remodeling and repairing the clubhouse.

SANTOSKY FUND—Richard Santosky, second from right, presents check for $6,000 from the Jacqueline Santosky Memorial Fund to Edwin B. Bolz and Sister Mary Charles, co-administrators of Benedictine Hospital. Dr. John A. Olivet, right, medical director of the hospital, said the money will be used for a cardiac intensive care unit. The Santosky fund was started

Santosky of Tillson who died of a kidney ailment in an effort to save the life of 27-year-old Jackie Sept. 3. Through efforts of local residents the sum has grown to more than $24,000. It is expected the cardiac unit will reduce coronary fatalities by 50 per cent. (Freeman photo by Wagen fohr)

Billy Graham Visit Leads 2,000 Men In Prayer Amid Activity of War

By BOB M. GASSAWAY
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — As jet warplanes screamed off the runway and helicopters flailed the air overhead, Billy Graham prayed with 2,000 American servicemen on a soccer field at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base today.

"I can assure you that you are in the prayers and thoughts of millions of Americans from coast to coast who are proud of the job you are doing out here," Graham said.

Spiritual War
"There is not only a war in Vietnam, that there is a world war, a spiritual war between good and evil. Is there any hope for peace? There's only one way we can find it: that is in Jesus Christ."

"When man has invented weapons that can destroy the world, God is going to intervene, Christ will return. He will sit on the throne and be the king of kings, the ruler of rulers. I don't see any hope for world

Killed in Crash
CLYDE, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Madeline E. Lacey, 55, was killed Tuesday night when her automobile skidded on a street and struck a tree in this Wayne County village, police said.

peace without the intervention of God.
"God bless you and God bless the Air Force and may you have, despite the circumstances, a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year."
After the crowd joined in singing "Silent Night," the evangelist moved to the 3rd Field Hospital just off the sprawling base to talk with patients.

Cites Gratitude
America is grateful for "what you are doing and what some of you have given and sacrificed," he told almost 200 patients in the courtyard of the hospital. "Thank you for coming here and for all you have done for us."

Graham moved about the hospital visiting patients unable to move to the courtyard.

He watched for a few minutes in an operating room as doctors and nurses swabbed blood off a severely wounded soldier just flown in from the field. Graham held the wounded man's hand and said a brief prayer.

Security for Graham's visit was tight with air policemen stationed all around the soccer field. Details of the evangelist's schedule are secret.

Sullivan Girls Held For Unlawful Flight

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—FBI agents and Lakewood police have arrested a girl charged with unlawful flight from New York State to avoid prosecution for grand larceny.

An alleged associate was arrested Dec. 6, FBI officials said Tuesday.

The girls are identified as Gino Parkes, 29, and Beverly Middleton, 23. Both are wanted by Sullivan County, N.Y., on charges of burglary and grand larceny.

The girls were indicted by a Sullivan County Grand Jury Oct. 26 in Monticello. They were charged with breaking and entering into summer resort cottages in Monticello during October.

The two are alleged to have fled New York State. On Nov. 2, at the request of Sullivan County authorities, unlawful flight complaints were filed and federal warrants issued in the Southern District of New York.

Beverly Middleton was arrested and charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. She was sentenced Monday to six months in Ocean County jail.

The FBI said Sullivan County authorities have been told of the arrest of the girls and that both will be eventually returned to New York State to face prosecution there.

PSC Okays Bonds

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Service Commission authorized the New York State Electric and Gas Corp. today to sell $25 million worth of 30-year, first mortgage bonds.

The PSC said the utility would use the proceeds to retire short-term borrowings used for capital improvements in recent months.

Arrest Accord Man

John Martin Hoag, 24, of Main Street, Accord, was arrested Tuesday by Ellenville State Police on a charge of third degree assault. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Raymond Lawrence, Town of Rochester, Hoag was held in $100 bail pending hearing on Friday, Dec. 23 at 8 a. m. The complainant was Alton Diny of the Accord address, according to Sergeant F. C. Thompson.

To Head School

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A former prisoner in German concentration camps has been named director of the new state school for the mentally retarded to be built adjacent to the Bronx State Hospital.

Dr. Bernard Tesse, 56, was appointed to the $20,585-a-year post Tuesday by Dr. Alan D. Miller, state mental hygiene commissioner.

Tesse has been an assistant director of the Willowbrook State School on Staten Island since 1960.

A native of Tarnow, Poland, Tesse was educated in Czechoslovakia and returned to his native city in 1940 to become director of the Jewish Hospital there.

In 1942, after the Nazis conquered Poland, Tesse was imprisoned for three years.

After the war, Tesse rejoined his family and began working for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Agency. He came to the United States in 1950 and joined the Willowbrook staff as a resident psychiatrist.

He became a United States citizen in 1955.

$12,484 for Monticello

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Renewal has granted $12,484 to six communities in New York State to aid in planning for development.

The grants announced Tuesday: Geneva, $25,779; Town of Geneva, $13,527; Horseheads, $16,529; Mendon, $8,055; Monticello, $12,484; and Fredonia, $2,208.

The grants will cover two-thirds of the planning costs, with the exception of Fredonia, which will receive the money to finance comprehensive planning.

The awards were announced by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: My wife's best friend gave her a tip. She should aggravate me "real good" so I would sock her. Then she would have a case against me and wouldn't have any trouble getting a divorce and a nice settlement.

Our marriage is far from perfect, but if I can stand HER, she can stand ME, until we get our kids raised. We have five who are still in school. I can't raise them alone, and I don't intend to let her take them away from me. After 12 years of marriage she decided we don't have anything "in common."

How do you like that? Five kids, two cars, a $65,000 home, and I'm insured for $125,000, and we have "nothing" in common. What is your advice? "BRISTLING" AT MSC

NO DIVORCE

DEAR NO: I recommend a marriage counselor and right now! And tell your wife to tell her friend to quit practicing law without a license.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old college male who has been dating a sophomore girl exclusively for nearly 3 months. I thought things were fine until we had a talk last night. She said she liked me and that she had never been treated so nicely by anyone, but that my kindness, respect, and sincerity "scared" her so we shouldn't date each other "for a while."

I always thought girls like to be treated with kindness, respect, and sincerity. What does a guy have to do to please a girl these days—punch her in the mouth?

Solon Would Tighten Tax-Free Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman has charged "profit and comfort, not charity" have been the main business of many private foundations. He called on the new Congress to tighten the requirements for such institutions to be tax-exempt.

Patman, a Texas Democrat, made the comments in the report filed Tuesday with a House Small Business subcommittee he heads. The subcommittee staff studied the books of 575 foundations for the years 1961-1964.

During this period, the report said, the foundations received $4.6 billion, including "capital gains, mostly from stock market transactions, of $1.3 billion."

DEAR "BRISTLING": Take her advice, and date someone else "for a while." (P. S. Quit bristling, I think you're getting the brush.)

DEAR ABBY: We are considerably upset by a letter recently published in your column signed SEATTLE, who suggested that everyone who drives a motorcycle is a bum.

We are college students who find motorcycles to be a convenient and inexpensive means of transportation. They present a minimum of parking problems, and are relatively "safe" as they are not driven by people who are busy listening to the radio and paying attention to things other than driving.

Please print this in defense of all the sane, responsible people who drive motorcycles. Thank you.

NEW YORK (AP) — Caseworkers may suggest birth control programs to married welfare recipients or heads of families under a new ruling by the State Board of Social Welfare.

Before Tuesday's 11 to 4 decision by the board, caseworkers throughout the state could give information on birth control only if clients asked.

Caseworkers or clients who oppose such programs may not be forced to give or take suggestions, the board said.

TRUST SIGNS UP SANTA—Symbolic of the Christmas Club gains over last year for the comparable period, the Kingston Trust Co. in the person of Kenneth C. Pratt, executive vice president, is shown adding a certain Mr. Claus to its membership rolls. In talking with bank officials Santa said, "I will of course be visiting each of the 5,600 members of this year's club, and I had to drop in to get their names and addresses. I did not plan it that way," he mused, "but as long as I'm here I'd like to join also."

Tax Questions, Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My employer has promised me a cash bonus this Christmas. Will it be taxable?

A—Yes it will be taxable and your employer will withhold taxes on it.

Q—Will the IRS issue state sales tax tables this year?

A—Yes, state tax tables will be part of the 1040 instruction booklet. They may be used as a guide for taxpayers who itemize deductions.

The instructions will also have a table on gasoline tax deductions to make it easier for taxpayers to arrive at a proper deduction for this tax. This is the first time such a table has been prepared on gasoline taxes.

Q—I just sold some stock I inherited from my father. How do I determine my profit or loss and whether it was long-term or short-term?

A—Use the fair market value of the stock at the date of the decedent's death as the basis for determining whether you had a gain or loss. If you received more for the stock than its value when you acquired it, for example, then you have a capital gain to report.

If you sold the stock more than six months after your father's death then the gain or loss will be considered long term. Six months or less will make the transaction a short-term one for tax purposes.

Q—I recently made a payment on back taxes and now I get another bill for the same tax. What's the reason for this?

A—Payments frequently come into our offices that cannot be identified. For this reason all checks for tax payments should have Social Security numbers on them. They will identify the payment with your account.

It also is helpful if you include the notice of payment due when paying such a bill.

Q—I'm just starting a business. What should I know about Federal taxes?

A—The Revenue Service has a "Mr. Businessman's Kit" which can be obtained from local IRS offices. The IRS also has a publication called "Tax Guide for Small Business" which should be extremely helpful to you. It may be obtained at a cost of 50c by writing to your IRS District Office or the Superintendents of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Q—Are the tax rates in 1966 the same as they were for 1965?

A—Yes. But social security tax rate on self-employment income is higher.

Q—I'm taking a job overseas in January. What do I do about my 1966 return?

A—For taxpayers who are traveling or living abroad on April 15 there is an automatic filing extension until June 15. Interest at the rate of 6% a year is charged, however, on taxes unpaid during the two-month period after April 15.

Before going overseas, be sure to pick up a copy of IRS publication No. 34, "Tax Guide for U. S. Citizens Abroad." Send a post card to the district director asking for this free booklet.

Urges Caution With Electrical Yule Ornaments

Building Inspector George E. Radcliffe today issued a warning against risky practices in the home during the holiday season, particularly with the use of electrical devices, and he advises use of wired metal strips for safe, extra outlets.

For one, he emphasized, "the octopus plug was never intended as part of the Christmas picture, but it is coming into widespread use as more and more holiday equipment is added annually to the list of electrical devices."

Misuse Breeds Disaster
It is customary, he noted, "to go all out for Christmas decorations, not only on the inside of the home, but on the outside. It is part of a wonderful tradition to tell the Christmas story in light and color, but misuse of electricity could turn the holidays into an occasion for disaster."

With festive moods, he said, "electricity is called upon to spread its magic by means of long, dangling extension cords connected to the baseboard or sidewall. The dangerous octopus plug is added to the Christmas picture, and where there are only two or three electrical outlets in a room, long cords are hidden under rugs. All this is done to glamorize without any thought to overloaded circuits and fire."

He cited these six rules for use of electricity in homes during the holiday season:

Long extension cords should not be run from one side of a room to another. It is easy to trip on loose cords.

Wires that carry electricity should always have careful attention.

Examine the insulation on wires. Christmas trees are highly inflammable, and cracked, dry insulation on wires may expose copper conductors causing short circuits.

Do not overload already filled outlets with additional cords causing huge masses of plugs to dangle from electrical outlets.

Never run flexible cords under rugs. Damaged insulation on wires can be overlooked when hidden. The underside of a carpet can act as a saw rubbing off the protective coating.

Never have cords stretched from one room to another or squeezed through a door jamb. This will crack or break off the protective covering on wires and multiaut copper conductors.

Solves Problem

He noted that "homes today are not equipped with enough outlets for holiday use, but there is a remedy. A prewired metal strip is available equipped with convenient outlets every 18 inches. This metal raceway is a plug-in strip of electrical outlets that fits on top of a baseboard. It provides many additional outlets and is easy to install." He advised safe observance of the holiday to insure a pleasant future.

L.I. Editor Dies

OCEANSIDE, N.Y. (AP) — John Francis Spencer Hinton, 61, longtime night city editor and recently stamp editor of the Long Island Press, died Monday at his home here.

Hinton, who had been with the Long Island newspaper for 34 years except for two brief interruptions — one for World War II service in Army intelligence — had been suffering from a heart condition.

In Switzerland, 90 per cent of all mustard is sold in squeezable metal tubes.

Keep Christ in Christmas
Let's keep Christ in Christmas
And in our hearts all year
The love he sends to you my friend
Will last from year to year

He will comfort you in sorrow
He will help you bear your pain
And if from him you stray away
He will take you back again

His love is everlasting, its precious and its true
And that's the gift He is bringing this Christmas Day to you

Mrs. Mary Hartmaier, Tillson, N.Y.

"No," said the old man sternly. "I will not do it. Never have I sold anything by false representation, and I will not begin now."
For a moment he was silent, and the clerk who stood before him could see that the better nature of his employer was fighting strongly for the right.
"No," said the old man, again. "I will not do it. It is an inferior grade of shoe, and I will never pass it off as anything better. Mark it. 'A Shoe Fit for a Queen,' and put in the window. A queen does not have to do much walking."

There was a clash between the lawyer and the magistrate. The latter ordered the lawyer to sit down, and as the lawyer, being deaf, didn't hear went on talking, the magistrate fined him $10.
The lawyer leaned toward the clerk of the court and cupped his hand behind his ear.

Lawyer Jones—What did he say?
Mr. Jackson (the clerk)—He fined you $10.
Lawyer Jones—What for?
Mr. Jackson (the clerk)—For contempt of court.
The lawyer shot a poisonous look toward the bench and thrust a hand into his pocket.
Lawyer Jones—I'll pay it now. It's a just debt.

A girl who says she will go through anything for a man usually has his bank account in mind.

Nature usually evens things up. A grasshopper is lazier than a bee but has better manners.
Judge Webb—I shall have to give you 10 days or $20.
Willie (the prisoner)—I'll take the $20, judge.
The doctor was questioning the new nurse about her latest patient.
Doctor Mann—Have you kept a chart on his progress?
The nurse blushing replied, Miss Lee—No, but I can show you a diary.

QUIZ ON DIFFERENT FORMS OF WINTER ENTERTAINING
The long winter months are ahead of us and we look forward to brightening them with different forms of entertainment. The following types of parties offer a change from the more common cocktail party or buffet supper. The questions below before you decide to try these forms of entertaining.

Brunches

1. Brunches are held late in the morning. True.... False....
2. The menu is the same as a luncheon menu. True.... False....

Fireside Parties

1. The piece de resistance is cooked in the fireplace at this sort of party. True.... False....
2. Guests are served as soon as they arrive. True.... False....

3. The meal is eaten around the fireplace. True.... False....

Progressive Dinners

1. The number of couples giving the dinner is unlimited. True.... False....
2. One course is served in each hostess' house. True.... False....

3. Each hostess pays for the part of the dinner that she serves. True.... False....

Brunches

1. True. Between breakfast and lunch, as the name implies.
2. False. Although there is frequently a luncheon-type dish served—turkey hash, for instance—the menu centers around breakfast foods: waffles, scrambled eggs, sausages, etc.

"Fireside Parties"

1. True. The meat, fish or fowl is cooked on a grill or spit over the coals.
2. False. Dinner is delayed so that guests can savor the sight and smell of roasting meat.

3. True. It is a very informal type of entertaining.

"Progressive Dinners"

1. False. More than four hosts means too much climbing in and out of cars and too little "settling down."
2. True, but flexible. One hostess, for example, might serve dessert and after-dinner coffee and drinks.

3. True. Or if they prefer, the hostesses may simply add up the total expense and divide it evenly.

MRS. DORAINE F. PRATT

Bonnie Ruth Wathley Weds Doraine Pratt; Ceremony in Millbrook Federated Church

On December 17, 1966 at 2 p. m., marriage vows were exchanged by Bonnie Ruth Wathley of Dover Plains, N. Y. and Doraine Fredrick Pratt of Stone Ridge, N. Y. The wedding ceremony took place in the Lyall Memorial Federated Church, Millbrook, N. Y., with the Rev. Edward Daniels officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Wathley of Dover Plains and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pratt Sr., of Stone Ridge.

Music for the occasion was provided by Mrs. Mary Knutson, organist. The church was decorated with Fuji mums, white pine and red poinsettias.

Mr. Wathley gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an A-line white satin brocade gown with cowl neckline, elbow length sleeves and a detachable train. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was bordered with lace and held by a pillbox of matching satin. She carried a cascade of Georgian orchids, white pine and Christmas bells.

The bride's maid of honor was her sister Margaret Wathley of Dover Plains. Other attendants were Mrs. George Boisvert of Kingston, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Carol Henschel of Dover Plains; Mrs. Phillip Wathley of Dover Plains, sister-in-law of the bride. The honor attendant wore a ruby velvet gown with white crepe skirt and a full length navy velvet coat. She carried white carnations, holly and Christmas bells. A matching velvet pillbox held her short veil. The attendants wore ruby velvet gowns with pink crepe skirts, full length navy velvet coats and matching pillboxes with short pink veils. They carried pink carnations with holly and Christmas bells.

Donald Pratt of Walton, N. Y. was best man for his brother. Ushers were George Boisvert of Kingston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Richard K. Reichenberg Jr., Dover Plains, the bride's uncle; and Phillip Wathley, Dover Plains, the bride's brother.

Rondout Valley FHA Hosts Faculty Tea; Plans Health Talks

The Rondout Valley High School Chapter of Future Homemakers of America were hostesses to the high school faculty at a holiday tea held after school on Tuesday, Dec. 20. All refreshments were prepared and served by the members of the club, which numbers about 30 girls of grades 7 through 12.

FHA is a nationwide organization. Each local chapter selects certain topics yearly from those suggested in the national program. This year the Rondout chapter is working in two areas. First, they have been concentrating on learning to make leisure time productive. Holiday bake sales for the faculty were held in November and December and another will be held in March. These sales are of the "order ahead" variety. For Thanksgiving, the girls took faculty orders for pies. The December sale featured Christmas cookies, and the pre-Easter sale in March will spotlight coffee cakes and hot cross buns.

The second area of study chosen is good health. The girls hope to have guest speakers on good grooming and on such topics as narcotics and smoking.

Rondout FHA officers for 1966-67 are: Georgeanna Brake, president; Linda Artist, vice-president; Pat Buckman, secretary; Cinda Thompson, treasurer. Faculty advisors are Mrs. Betty Lou McCauley, coordinator of the Home Economics Department and Miss Evelyn Voss.

Marine Midland Foundation Makes Pledge Of $10,000 to Hudson Valley Philharmonic

The Marine Midland Foundation has pledged the sum of $10,000 to the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Endowment Fund, it was announced today to The Freeman.

This contribution to the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Endowment Fund, sponsored through the Marine Midland Bank of Southeastern New York which operates in the area served by the Philharmonic, will be allotted over a period of five years.

In announcing the gift to Mrs. Sidney N. Miller, president of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, Carl Berry, president of Marine Midland Bank of Southeastern New York, and a director of the Marine Midland Foundation, stated:

"Great efforts are being demanded from individuals and industries to help stabilize and raise the levels of most of the nation's professional orchestras. This is the basis of the Ford Foundation program. We of Marine Midland are proud to be identified as supporters of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and its contribution to the cultural life of the area.

"Helping to assure the future of this organization and contributing to its growth and excellence were motivating reasons for Marine Midland's participation in the matching endowment program with the Ford Foundation grant.

"Marine Midland is happy to announce, also, that it will continue its regular contribution to the deficit operating fund which it realizes is a regular budget item of symphony organizations throughout the world."

It will be remembered that when Joseph M. McDaniel Jr., secretary, The Ford Foundation, confirmed the $325,000 grant to the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, he stated: "I am pleased to inform you that The Ford Foundation has approved a grant of $325,000 to the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, Inc., under a ten-year Foundation program beginning July 1, 1966, to assist the development and consolidation of American symphony orchestras." The grant consists of $250,000 in Endowment Funds and $75,000 in Expendable Funds. One of the terms of the grant set forth by the Ford Foundation Symphony Orchestra Program was "that the Endowment Funds, which shall be held in a Trust established by the Foundation for a period of ten years, be matched within the five-year period July 1, 1966, through June 30, 1971, through contributions from sources other than the Foundation amounting to one dollar for each Endowment dollar granted by the Foundation."

Marine Midland's Foundation pledge of $10,000 has thus matched $10,000 of the Ford Foundation Endowment Grant to the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society. In accepting this contribution to the Endowment Fund, Mrs. Miller said, "This generous pledge from Marine Midland renews the confidence of our Board that there is great need for the services of Philharmonic throughout the Mid-Hudson Area. With this fulfillment of the Endowment Fund Program, these services will continue to grow and improve for many years to come."

Tiger, Fleischer Cited by Writers

NEW YORK (AP) — Two nice old men of boxing, 37-year-old Dick Tiger of Nigeria and Nat Fleischer, a 79-year-old globe-trotting editor and official, were named today to receive the two major awards of the Boxing Writers Association.

Tiger, the newly crowned light heavyweight champion and one of the oldest fighters ever to win a world crown, was chosen Fighter of the Year for his upset, rallying victory over 30-year-old Jose Torres last Friday night. He will receive the Edward J. Neil plaque for the second time. Tiger won it first in 1962.

Fleischer, editor and publisher of Ring Magazine and an official at more than 1,000 fights in all parts of the world, was picked for the James J. Walker Award for "long and meritorious service to boxing."

Tiger, the first former middleweight champion to win the light heavyweight title in 63 years, beat out three other champions: middleweight Emile Griffith, heavyweight Cassius Clay and lightweight Carlos Ortiz — for the annual award.

That was almost a big upset as Tiger's victory as a 3-1 underdog against the 30-year-old Jose Torres at Madison Square Garden last Friday night.

The Neil trophy is named in honor of The Associated Press sports writer who was killed while reporting the Spanish Civil War.

The Walker trophy is named in honor of the late mayor of New York.

Fleischer, a noted fight judge, estimates he has written more than 50 million words on boxing in books, newspapers and magazines, including the authoritative Ring Record Book and Boxing Encyclopedia.

UCLA Stars Face Judge on January 6

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA basketball star Mike Lynn and his roommate, Larry McColister, have been ordered to appear Jan. 6 in Superior Court for trial on charges of forgery of credit cards.

Lynn, 21, Covina, Calif., and McColister, also 21, Lemon Grove, Calif., pleaded innocent Tuesday in Superior Court.

The men were arrested Nov. 30 after allegedly trying to buy phonograph records with a credit card reported lost.

Lynn has been suspended from playing in games but still practices with the Bruins.

Following New Paltz Riot

Onteora Raises Question of Spectator Control

BY CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The Onteora Board of Education has strongly recommended a meeting of chief school administrators of UCAL (Ulster County Athletic League) schools to coordinate and agree upon measures to insure the safety of students at athletic events.

The action is the aftermath of incidents which occurred following the basketball contest between New Paltz and Onteora at New Paltz on Dec. 9.

By resolution at its December meeting, the Onteora board requested discussion in two areas:

1) Spectator control problems encountered by member schools.

2) Specific measures necessary to insure spectator control.

The request for the meeting has been directed to Fred Bement of Marlboro Central School, president of the UCAL. Copies were forwarded to all UCAL member schools in behalf of the Onteora board by Superintendent of Schools Dr. George R. Sullivan.

The letter also suggests that high school principals and athletic directors be invited to the meeting.

In an accompanying memorandum, the Onteora board to gather the background of the post-game brawl in which three Onteora students were assaulted by unidentified young men and a fourth student was struck in the face several times.

Lack of Controls
"It is my feeling," Dr. Sullivan wrote, "that there were groups of young people, either classified as students at New Paltz Central or simply spectators at the game, who were directly responsible for both of the incidents."

"After listening to the chaparones and bus drivers at the site of the game," Dr. Sullivan added, "it is my feeling that there was a general lack of supervision necessary to control the events described above."

Two separate incidents were involved, according to the investigation conducted for the Onteora board by high school principal Edward S. Witko.

In one, after the game when students were getting ready to board the return buses, a group of unidentified young men (apparently from New Paltz) confronted two Onteora students. They were challenged to fight, threatened with abusive language and finally struck and knocked to the ground.

At this point, the memorandum continues, two Onteora chaparones, noticing the crowd gathering around the action, attempted to escort the two Onteora boys to the buses. The boys refused to follow directions, insisting they had come to New Paltz with another Onteora student in his car. All the while this was going on, the group of New Paltz young men continued to threaten these boys and other OCS students in the immediate area.

Third Boy Challenged
A third boy was challenged to a fight and was also struck in the face. He was further challenged by another New Paltz young man until he was finally put on the bus by chaparones.

It was at this time that a riot was developing in the parking lot.

scene apparently trying to help his friends. He was also struck many times by these same young men from New Paltz.

After some difficulty these three boys were finally escorted by two Onteora teacher-chaparones and a bus driver to the car. There was still more trouble when the car was reached, trying to load the car and close the car door.

The New Paltz young men were still trying to fight and still trying to prevent the car from leaving the school grounds. Finally this was achieved and the car did leave.

In the meantime, it was noticed that a fairly large group of New Paltz spectators attempted to gather at the exit from the parking lot, the memo continues. At this stage a third OCS teacher-chaparone of one of the spectator buses entered the high school and indicated very strongly to a member of the New Paltz staff that he should call the police for reinforcements since a riot was developing in the parking lot.

Buses Are Struck
The one police attendant on duty in the parking lot was ineffective and unable to control the fighting or to disperse the groups of spectators that were forming, the memo charges.

The chaparones and bus drivers agreed not to leave the parking lot until they were assured of police protection. Eventually the police did show up and the three buses left at the same time.

Shortly after leaving the parking lot two of the buses were hit by flying objects, breaking two side windows and a marker light on bus No. 6. As many as 15 different objects were reported hitting the three different buses, with the last bus bearing the brunt of the attack.

Once the last bus was inside the Thruway entrance, a careful examination was made for personal injuries. Most of the flying glass was removed from the hair and clothing of students and seats before the buses proceeded to Boiceville.

Stram Credits KC Veterans

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City's Hank Stram, named AFL Coach of the Year by The Associated Press, says leadership by his veterans headed by co-captain Jerry Mays was a major factor in his team's fast start toward the AFL Western crown.

"This honor is very gratifying," Stram said Tuesday. "but really it's a great compliment to Lamar Hunt, my squad and my coaches."

"The leadership of Mays and my veteran players like Chris Burford was a great contribution."

The 42-year-old Stram, the only coach the Chiefs have had in their six-year history, is recognized as one of football's most astute coaches, inventor of the triple stack defense, the moving pocket and double tight end on offense and the man who has gotten the most points out of play-action passes.

His coaching record is 82 won, 47 lost, five tied, exhibitions included.

Mays, an All-AFL defensive end, views Stram as a model coach.

"Everybody knows about his inventions, but the important thing is the way he handles men," Mays said. "One reason we wanted Cookie Gilchrist, we figured if any coach could make him a team man, Hank could."

"Hank is patient and a sharp judge of talent."

"He never loses his poise on the field and he never loses his poise to the press after a game. When things go wrong, he takes the blame."

Stram was a 13-12 choice over Boston's Mike Holovak in the voting by sports writers and sportscasters.

Fans Wait in Line For Football Tix

DALLAS (AP) — Fans waited in long lines today as the sale of tickets started for the Jan. 1 Dallas-Green Bay National Football League championship game.

Folks started arriving 24 hours earlier and it looked like a big picnic on the grounds of the State Fair of Texas.

They brought charcoal grills, coats, sleeping bags, radio, television sets and what have you when the big rush started Tuesday night. The crowd really began moving in about 8 p.m.

Would-be buyers formed lines around the Women's Building of the fair, ready to pounce on those tickets as soon as the sale in the building was opened.

There are 75,504 tickets to be sold to the game. It appeared they might be snapped up in a couple of days.

Pick Charlotte Cooke Twice on All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlotte Cooke, 18-year-old middle distance star from Los Angeles, received double honors today on the Amateur Athletic Union's 1966 women's All America track and field team.

The team was picked by the women's track and field committee. Miss Cooke was chosen for both the quarter-mile and half-mile after setting American records of 53.4 seconds and 2:05.0 in the two events.

Theft From Church

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Rev. C. Harry Christopher said thieves broke into the offices of the St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal church recently and got away with $5. But he said it couldn't be called a total loss. The thieves gained entrance to the church through an window that had been stuck for two years. It works fine now.

Term Sentence Harsh

MOSCOW (AP) — The acting head of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Minister-Counselor John C. Guthrie, today called a three-year prison sentence on a young American harsh and asked higher Soviet authorities to commute or suspend it. Guthrie issued his statement shortly after the Leningrad City Court reached its verdict on Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. and Buel Ray Wortham. Wortham was given three years in prison. Gilmour was fined 1,000 — $1,111. "We are of course glad that after over two months of confinement Mr. Gilmour can return home," Guthrie said. "As for Mr. Wortham's sentence, the embassy regards it, and I am sure most Americans will regard it, as harsh and out of all proportion to the relatively minor legal infractions with which he was charged."

"In our view his more than two months confinement has already been more than ample punishment. I would hope, therefore, that the proper authorities will find it appropriate to commute or suspend Mr. Wortham's sentence."

Purchase Announced

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Permutit Co., a division of Ritter Pfaudler Corp., has purchased Ancodyne & Co., of Lorain, Ohio, it was announced today. The purchase price was not announced. Ancodyne & Co. was owned by A.M. Castle & Co. and B.P. Ancodyne Inc. It manufactures sewage-treatment plants for small municipalities, apartment complexes and shopping centers. Its sales this year were expected to total $1.5 million.

Blaze Damages Home in City

A two-story, frame house at 50 Clarendon Avenue, occupied by Major Hardin and family and owned by Robert Beaumont, of Hurley, was damaged by fire early Tuesday afternoon.

Firemen said it had started in bathroom curtains, burned up a side wall to the ceiling and across an attic area. A section of roof was removed. First and second floor areas were damaged by water.

Unit from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company answered a call shortly before 1 p. m. with Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Robert W. Hardwick in charge. Two pump streams were used.

A call at 6:09 p. m. was for a fire in a pile of felled trees and rubble in the downtown urban renewal area at Hasbrouck Avenue and Murray Street. Units from the Corbys and Union companies responded and the blaze was checked with a pump stream.

Gets 20-30 Years

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 39-year-old man convicted of second-degree murder in the shooting of a tavern-owner in a dispute over a baseball bet was sentenced today to serve 20 to 30 years in Attica State Prison.

Henry W. Slaughter of Buffalo was sentenced by Judge Jacob Latona of Erie County Court.

Slaughter was convicted by a jury Nov. 26. Witnesses at his trial testified he shot Clyde Luchey Jr., 27, Sept. 10, 1965, after they had argued.

House Is Doomed

ran last week saying the date was a "typographical error."

Called Historic Site
William G. Tyrell, New York State historian, recently reversed his original decision and ruled Halfway House a historical site. Built in 1819, the building once served as a stop on the New York to Albany stagecoach run. The decision to destroy the house was based on Tyrell's statement that it had no historic value, Mrs. Starin said.

The house is now the residence of Miss Elizabeth Collier, an 82-year recluse who has received orders to vacate.

Maps Next Move
Mrs. Starin, who is determined to save the building, said her next step will be to appeal to the newly created U. S. Commission on Historic Sites and Landmarks. She is trying to arrange an appointment with Conrad Werth, the commissioner.

The state road builders contend that if they move the location of the ramp to save the house it will be isolated in the cloverleaf and would present a hazard to motorists.

No funds have been forthcoming to move the house to another site and contractors note it would be hazardous if not impossible to move the stone structure to another site.

Chamber Will Air opportunity to ask questions about the affairs of the 1967 Legislative Session in Albany. Bernard K. Allanson, assistant for the New York State Council of Retail Merchants, has already notified Belser of his acceptance of the Chamber's invitation to speak. Invitations also have been sent to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock and to Senator-Elect Jay P. Rolison Jr. of Dutchess County.

Robert Strickland, vice president of the Division of the Chamber, which sponsors the State Affairs Committee, noted that the Chamber was extending an open invitation to anyone in the community who was interested in the subject of the program. He said that while the program is designed as a specific service to the Chamber member, it was opened to anyone with an interest in attending. He added that reservations may be made by calling the Chamber office.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market erased an initial loss and edged higher in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Despite confusing year-end cross currents, the market mustered enough strength to move into plus territory. The action followed four straight days of decline.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 293.4 with industrials up .7, rails up .1 and utilities unchanged.

Chrysler's planned cutbacks for January continued as a discouraging influence. Further weakness in General Electric as it responded anew to its forecast of lower earnings acted once more as a dampener on the blue chip section.

GE sank 1 1/4 to 87 1/2 at the opening but it gradually crawled back and showed only a small fractional loss as trading went into the afternoon.

Air Reduction, which raised its dividend and proposed a 2-for-1 stock split, enlivened the list with a gain of about 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.73 at 796.32.

Up a point or better were Pan American, United and Eastern Airlines.

Among the higher-priced glamour stocks, Polaroid and Xerox rose about 2 apiece. U.S. Smelting (ex dividend) gained more than a point.

Gains of a point or so were made also by Jones & Laughlin, Anaconda and U.S. Gypsum.

became famous in the industry for its unmatched strength. The industry still continues to serve many customers around the world with this famous product of the Century Cement Company, owned and operated by A. J. Snyder.

Arrange Pact

It was with National Storage Company that Snyder, after several months of negotiation finalized recently a contract giving National a 50-year lease with option to renew for 49 additional years. Attorney Lloyd R. LeFever represented Snyder in the transaction.

Century Cement has leased the 32 acres of the cave area to National Storage Company and will continue to manufacture cement. Century plans to expand its present operations at the Rosendale plant and at present additional facilities for the manufacture of masonry cement are under construction. This is expected to go into operation early in 1967, according to the firm's owner.

In 1960, Century erected a modern Portland cement plant. The firm now manufactures natural, Portland and masonry cement and will continue these operations with the expansion.

The Rosendale cement caves remained after more than 100 years of mining of a hardened rock that formed during the Silurian period of the Paleozoic era. The Silurian period in the evolutionary time scale was that period when a few primitive animals and some rudimentary plants began to live on land.

Natural Support

These caves or mines have a ground level entrance, are 26 feet in height and a total underground area consisting of about 2 million square feet and up to 200 feet of solid limestone cover. During mining operations of the past, huge pillars of rock were left in the mine at regular spaced intervals. These huge limestone columns support the ceiling so that no internal bracing is necessary.

The Rosendale underground facilities will be one of the largest in the world, a company official noted. The passage-ways are as wide as city streets, able to take care of truck and trailer transportation. New York Central Railroad officials have displayed interest in putting down a tract spur in the caves like vault for easier handling of freight cars, in top security environment.

Yont said today that National Storage Company, Inc., will build and have available the most modern and strongest security protection known to man. The one-level underground acreage has two underground artesian wells with ample and non-contaminated water supply.

The company president noted that millions of dollars will go into transforming this giant project into reality. Work of dismantling old buildings at the main entrance to the caves already is under way.

The Rosendale security installation will have the finest in communications, an air conditioning plant to create the purest air a human can breathe, auxiliary power plants and other necessary important equipment to carry on in normal fashion without disruption and continue to keep contact with the outside world.

"The dropping of the atom bomb and the invention of the hydrogen bomb has developed this significant plan for survival," Yont said. "World and business leaders alike are in complete accord that every consideration must be given to keep intact whatever knowledge we possess in the protection of the future—information or other valuable records."

Among tenants using the Boylston, Pa. underground security facility are Westinghouse Electric Corp., Sherwin & Williams, Babcock and Wilcox, Mellon Bank, National City Bank of Cleveland, H. J. Heinz, First Federal Savings & Loan Association, Alcoa-Aluminum Co. of America and many other banks, government agencies and counties and cities.

Underground record storage is a rapidly expanding service. Where there were no such uses of abandoned underground facilities as late as 1946, some 115 customers were renting storage space in 1955; 333 by 1958 and 675 by 1960, according to the Wall Street Journal.

Snyder, owner of the Rosendale site, looks forward to the immediate conversion of the mine into "one of the finest facilities in this section of the United States," as he looked forward to all industrial expansion. Snyder is a man who enjoys seeing things constructed, and for many years—as evidenced in a centennial booklet published by Century Cement in 1950—his favorite quotation has been one by John Ruskin: "When we build let us think that we build forever."

Let us think that a time is to come when men will say . . . "See! This our fathers did for us!"

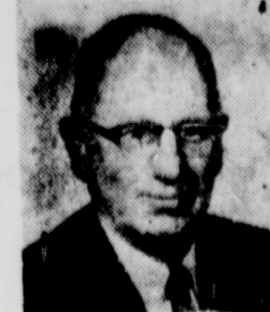

In a message to prospective tenants of the Rosendale facility, National's president said, "We offer at this new facility the widest latitude of security and related services available anywhere. Everything from the safe storage of microfilm, computer tapes, and paper documents to complete emergency operational headquarters for key management—all safely nestled below the surface of the earth and impervious to all forms of disaster."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst
Don't Sell Sound Issues To Reduce Mortgage Cost

Q) "We own a house with a mortgage of $20,000. Our blue chip stocks pay us $1,700, my salary is $18,000 and we have two fine children. Currently our mortgage interest is at a higher rate than the return on our stocks. Should we sell the latter to reduce the interest charges?"
—R. H.

A) You are a very fortunate man in your family and in your finances, and I congratulate you. Since you seem relatively young and have taken good care of your money, I see no reason to sell sound stocks at present depressed levels in order to decrease your mortgage. I happen to believe that in spite of the best efforts of our government, inflation may be checked, but it will never be halted. If I am correct, it is good policy to maintain a debt that you can carry comfortably and pay off years hence with cheaper dollars. And conversely, your shares over the same period should increase in value.

Q) "I am a widow lady aged 60—with $20,000 from my husband's estate. I will also get a check for $230 a month for life, provided I don't marry again. I sell Avon cosmetics and make around $60 a month doing so. I would like to invest the $20,000 which is now in the savings bank. My brother-in-law, a banker, suggests $2,000 each in American Telephone, General Electric, Borden Co., Standard Oil of New Jersey. Is this a wise investment the way things are today?"
—J. G.

A) I should be delighted to have some money in your brother-in-law's bank. He's obviously a sound and conservative man. I would follow his advice, with one exception. I suggest you Plan Tax . . .

section with the announcement of the proposed meetings Raichle said:

"This inventory of property must be complete in every respect not only to the placing of all properties that have never been on the tax rolls, plus checking those that are presently on the tax rolls to insure that each is for the correct amounts."

"All the exempted properties must be checked carefully to see that each is rightfully exempted from tax. When this has been done, all properties should then be revalued and taxes equalized throughout the county."

"The 'pick-up' often results in the lowering of taxes in a county, but more important it distributes the tax burden more evenly among all property owners."

"Presently Ulster County has properties which are assessed at 20 per cent of the present market value. Some are assessed at 30 per cent, while many are assessed at 40, 50 and 60 per cent of value with some going even higher."

Discourages Building
"A system such as this does not encourage new business or industry nor does it encourage homeowners to build new homes which are usually assessed at a higher percentage of value than older homes."

"While it is true, the new home is usually worth more than the older one, the rate per $1,000 should be the same on all properties regardless of age, size or value. This includes business and industry as well. Those with a higher value will pay more taxes and those with a lower value will pay less with each paying his proportionate share based on present day market values."

"In the past, when additional monies were required to run county projects, it was common to tax business and industry with the owner getting off 'scot free' This, however, is no longer possible since most large industries have capable staffs who are constantly looking for ways to cut costs not only in methods and equipment but in taxes as well."

"When large industry builds new divisions, they are usually

Predict Mercury Drop, Light Snow

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Thursday through Monday:

It will be moderately cold early in the period, with some moderation by the weekend. Temperatures will average about normal for late December.

There will be a period of snow flurries, mainly over the west and north portions during the next day or two, with chance of a more general light snow about Saturday.

Daytime high temperatures will be in the upper 20s to middle 30s most days. Nighttime lows will be in the upper teens and 20s.

Precipitation will be one-quarter to one-half inch.

located in counties where the taxes have been equalized. And additional savings is realized if these firms are not expected to carry a higher tax load than others in the area. Fair taxation will attract new business and industry.

Must Attract
"If Ulster County is to grow and prosper, it must attract new industries and this could only be done through a fair and equitable tax structure and without it the county will be by-passed and stagnate."

"While this first step to sound county financing and broadening the tax base does require an investment, the returns on this investment are many-fold to all concerned. It is possible to recover much of this investment through the sale of photographs and maps which are developed in such a program. At the same time, the county will have on record a complete list of industrial sites for mailing to interested parties in its quest for new business and industry."

"This program will also establish the county, and rightfully so, as an authority on property ownership."

Rocky Cautions State Drivers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller urged New Yorkers today to drive "alertly, courteously and soberly" during the holiday season and warned that the state's traffic laws would be "sternly enforced with added vigilance."
 "The careless driver, the drinking driver can turn a joyous Christmas season into a nightmare for those involved in accidents," the governor said in a statement.
 Rockefeller offered to motorists what he said were three solid points of advice:
 —Determine to drive carefully and defensively.
 —Be certain to leave yourself extra travel time.
 —If you drink don't drive."

Driver Injured, Cited in Crash

A Margaretville resident, James Bush, 22, who allegedly fell asleep at the wheel of his car in Margaretville Hospital with lacerations and a fractured skull after a two-car collision on Route 28 near Phenicia Monday. He was also issued a warrant by Deputy Sheriff Robert Grennie of the Big Indian out-post of the sheriff's office, charging that he drove to the left of the highway. The warrant is returnable before Justice Edward F. France of Pine Hill on Jan. 4.
 Also taken to Margaretville Hospital by the Gormley ambulance of Phenicia was Burton Gardner of Pine Hill who received a shoulder injury and after treatment was discharged.
 Deputy Grennie reported the Bush car, traveling west on Route 28, crossed the center line when the operator fell asleep and the Gardner car was struck.

Deter Possible Cruiser Attack

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Two U.S. F4B Phantom jets fired air to air missiles Tuesday at two enemy planes that were flying toward the U.S. cruiser Long Beach and the enemy craft vanished from radar scopes, an American spokesman announced tonight.
 Were the enemy planes shot down? The spokesman said he could not confirm or deny it. The encounter took place in early morning darkness.
Planes Tracked
 The enemy planes were tracked from over the city of Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi, the spokesman said. The Long Beach, a guided-missile cruiser, was operating in the Gulf of Tonkin 25 miles northeast of Thanh Hoa.
 "When first sighted, the aircraft were headed toward the Long Beach," the spokesman said.
 The U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk launched the two Phantom jets.
 These locked onto the other planes with radar and fired air-to-air missiles. The number of missiles fired was not reported in Saigon.
 The spokesman said the only result known here was that the enemy aircraft disappeared.

Up the Ladder
Romnes Succeeds Kappel as Head of Giant AT&T
 NEW YORK (AP) — H. I. Romnes, who started at the bottom of the corporate ladder as a construction crew worker, was chosen today as chairman of the giant American Telephone & Telegraph Co.
 AT&T directors chose Romnes, 59, to succeed Frederick R. Kappel as chief executive officer of the world's largest public utility enterprise. Kappel reaches the company's mandatory retirement age of 65 next month.
 Romnes, the son of immigrant Norwegian parents, moves to the chairmanship after two years as AT&T's president. His election is effective Feb. 1, 1967.
Probe Burglary, Theft From Auto
 Local police today were investigating a burglary at the Immaculate Conception Parochial School, 471 Delaware Avenue and the theft of liquor from a car.
 Entrance to the school was reported gained through an unlocked side window and while first investigation indicated only $4 in nickels was missing, areas of the school were damaged.
 Two doors were damaged, an inside window near the principal's office was broken, the office was ransacked, and a filing cabinet damaged.
 A report at 8:25 p. m. Tuesday noted that several bottles of liquor in a car and ready for delivery by the Fair Liquor Store, 276 Fair Street, had been stolen while the car was near that address. Police said a lock had been forced.

Gifts for Elderly
 The practical nursing class of BOCES Vocational School distributed gifts and cookies Wednesday from 1-3 p. m. at the Albany Avenue Sanitarium. The nurses supplied a Santa Claus and a choral group. Santa was played by Maureen Schatzel. Her helpers were Regina Cokely, Linda Brooks, Shirley Santosky, Rita Smith, Jeanne Holtz, Donna Boss, Ida Tacty, Cathy Halley, Donna Darvin, Carmine Santos, Jacqueline Snider and Sue Brezzy.

 Answers Your Insurance Questions
 QUESTION: Are automobile insurance rates affected in any way by the time of the year at which the insurance is purchased?
 ANSWER: Not at all. An annual policy would cover all seasons so the risk would be the same no matter when the insurance was issued.

Priest, Two Are Hurt in Mishaps
 Three persons reported injuries after two city traffic mishaps during Tuesday's storm and three were hurt in falls.
 Police said the Rev. Robert D. Saccaman, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, driver of one car in a collision at Broadway and Cornell Street, was treated at Kingston Hospital for a neck injury.
 Victoria Ector, of 79 Van Buren Street, drove the other car. Police said Father Saccaman had stopped for a traffic light on Cornell Street at about 4 p. m. and then headed across Broadway toward Cedar Street. Brakes were applied on the other car as the light changed, but it was unable to stop in time to avoid contact.
 Two others were treated at Kingston Hospital after a mishap at Ravine and German Streets, also said to be due to the snow.
 Officers Harry Short and Henry Sira, who investigated, said a car driven by Edward Norton Jr., of 108 Spring Street, headed south on Ravine Street at 6:30 p. m. went out of control "due to snow" and struck the parked car of Rita B. Swift, of Box 98, Ruby. The report said Norton and Kenneth Wisner, 16, of 181 Doris Street, Port Jervis, had "jumped from the vehicle" when it went out of control. Norton was treated for back and neck and Wisner for head injuries. They were taken to the hospital by Doctors' ambulance.
 Police were notified early Tuesday afternoon that Mrs. Eugene Gorton, 63, of RD 1, Box 46, Stone Ridge, suffered a shoulder injury when she fell in a parking lot on North Front Street. She was taken to the Benedictine Hospital by Doctors' ambulance and was reported in fair condition there today.
 A report at 6:45 p. m. said

Governor Officially Appoints Marshall
 ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller announced today his selection of Alton G. Marshall of nearby Glenmont to succeed William J. Ronan as secretary to the governor.
 The announcement confirmed reports that had circulated for several weeks that Marshall would be tapped for the top level administrative post on the governor's staff.
 Marshall, 45, a career state employee, has been serving as "executive officer" to the governor at $32,265 a year.
 The secretary's job carries the same salary but, in addition, affords a $3,000 annual allowance for expenses.
 Ronan resigned the secretary's post last week to move fulltime into a second position he held, the chairmanship of the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority.
